Purge Is Threatened By Castro

Charges Leaders Abuse Authority

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro charged today that Cuba's revolutionary leaders were abusing their authority, mistreating the public and creating general chaos.

Sweeping changes must be made, he said.

Hits 'The Useless'

"The revolution needs to revise all the revolutionary nuclei and all the political apparatus of the revolution to do away with the errors and abuses and to gain good performance," he declared in a televised address monitored here.

"We have to stop tolerating poor performance and errors," he said. "Those who are useless will not continue in their positions."

Castro singled out no individuals but he had particularly biting criticism for the revolutionary defense committees. These groups—with representatives in every city block, in all factories and on farms—are responsible for watching their neighbors and coworkers for signs of counterrevolutionary attitudes.

Second Attack on Regime

His sharp denunciation came during a postmidnight speech, his second attack of the week on his own regime. He ordered rationing Monday and criticized Cuba for not meeting food production goals.

The prime minister said he had talked a few days ago with several women who complained they had been humiliated in public and treated as counterrevolutionaries when they actually supported the regime wholeheartedly.

"We have to increase public vigilance against errors and injustices," he shouted. "No one has the right to commit injustices and he who does so is an enemy of the revolution."

Some people, he said, "think they are more revolutionary than anybody and have the right to mistreat and humiliate others. There are people who have created chaos in the organisms of the state with their mania for putting and taking and their abuse of authority."

Castro addressed graduates of a school for women who will train former domestic workers in other skills.

He called for complete equality of the sexes—"a day in which the women may work equally with men and have the same opportunities. Only without privileges, without sectarianism of any class can the errors, injustices and wrongs of the political apparatus be rectified."

Castro's address climaxed a week during which he surged back into the limelight after a period of apparent retirement that brought rumors he was being eased out as Cuba's leader.

New York Firm Buys 16 Acres Near Mt. Marion

A New York City industrial firm recently purchased 15.60 acres of farm land along Old Kings Highway in Churchland to add to another tract of 16.10 acres in the same area purchased last August.

The recent sale of land adjoining Hudson Valley Lightweight Aggregate Corp., was in the amount of approximately $20,000 indicated by $22 in revenue stamps paid for the transfer. The seller was George F. Wilde who resided in the residence on the property.

The purchaser of the Wilde tract was listed as Central Avenue Industrial Corp., 100 East 42nd Street, New York City.

The August sale was the Florence M. and Margaret E. Gippert tract in the same area in the amount of approximately $18,000 to the same corporation, listing the address as 125 Park Avenue.

Most offices in New York City are closed on Saturdays and no one could be reached to determine the use of the land. The tracts are reportedly on the east side of the West Shore Railroad Division lines of New York Central Railroad and extend far back, possibly to Esopus Creek.

Warn Parents: Keep Children Off Ice Floes

State police today cautioned parents about the danger of permitting children to play on ice floes in area lakes, ponds and streams.

Due to the mild weather ice is breaking up in streams, lakes and ponds and in many cases will not hold the weight of a child.

Sgt. E. E. Winkky of Kingston station said each year about this time tragedy strikes in a home when one of the children fall through ice in deep water.

Alertness on the part of parents at this time of the year could avert such mishaps, he said.

Broadway East Project

UR Survey Will Begin Next Week

A door-to-door survey, similar to those conducted by the census taken every 10 years, will begin next week in the Broadway East Urban Renewal Project area downtown, according to Mayor John J. Schwenk.

To Seek Out Needs

The mayor said this survey in the Rondout neighborhood will have the very special purpose of trying to determine the actual needs of people in the downtown Urban Renewal Project area, so that the plans for the Broadway East Project will take into consideration the "human element" as well as cold facts such as the condition of buildings and the value of properties.

The mayor announced that representatives of Raymond & May Associates, the city's Urban Renewal consultants, will be working in the 105-acre area for the next two weeks to interview residents.

The interviewers will carry letters of identification bearing the City Seal, and Mayor Schwenk suggested that residents ask to see the identification before being interviewed, particularly since some of the questions will deal with family size, income, etc.

The mayor said that the answers will be held completely confidential, for use only in planning the downtown Urban Renewal project.

Urges Cooperation

He urged all residents in the area to give their utmost cooperation to the interviewers since obtaining complete data on existing conditions is absolutely necessary if the city is to achieve the most effective planning.

He also noted that Urban Renewal Director Ward Tongue has his office in City Hall, and if there are any questions concerning this activity, he can be reached by calling the Urban Renewal Office, FE 1-7720, at the City Hall.

U.S. Facing Pressure to Cancel Tests

GENEVA (AP)—The United States appeared almost certain today to come under heavy pressure from several nonnuclear nations in the disarmament conference to suspend its plans for a series of nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere starting next month.

Brazil Leads Bloc

Brazil has taken the lead among the eight-nation middle bloc of the conference in arguing that, even without an international inspection system, atmospheric tests can be stopped now because they are detectable over great distances.

At the heart of the developing struggle is President Kennedy's announced plan to go ahead with atmospheric tests in late April unless Russia signs a test-ban treaty providing for international inspection.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk privately last Sunday that the Soviet government would not accept international inspection for a test ban. Soviet Ambassador Semyon K. Tsarapkin announced the position at a news conference Friday. He contended national inspection systems were sufficient to police a prohibition on testing.

Offer Still Stands

U.S. officials regarded the Soviet declarations as a public rejection of Kennedy's terms. But they said they would not accept it as Moscow's last word on the issue. The President's offer remains open should the Soviets change their policy.

The position developing among the middle bloc of nations, however, threatens to make the tests more than a U.S.-Soviet issue. If the stand taken by Brazil finds support, U.S. diplomats would

Military Is Happy With Midas, Samos

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials reported today good progress in the development of a system of spy satellites designed to detect Russian missile launchings almost instantly and radio back warning.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev neglected, perhaps intentionally, to mention the U.S. Midas satellite system Friday in announcing creation of a new Russian "global rocket" that he said was able to avoid U.S. radar warning stations.

90-Second Success

At least two experimental Midas satellites have been sent aloft. One of them was credited with spotting a Titan missile only 90 seconds after the Titan took off from Cape Canaveral, Fla., last Oct. 25.

Other models may have been shot into polar orbits since then, but the Air Force has drawn tight secrecy around the program.

Also cloaked for security reasons is a related spy in the sky project called Samos. The Samos satellites are designed to take pictures of military bases in Russian territory or any other area from hundreds of miles in space.

Recall Earlier Claim

Officials said both programs were moving along without any serious difficulties. The two spy satellite systems may be operational within a couple of years.

Military authorities were not jolted by Khrushchev's claim that Russian scientists have created a new intercontinental rocket that they call global.

Observers recalled that when Russia made its first claim to having successfully tested an intercontinental missile, it said the rocket could hit any spot on the globe. That was more than 4½ years ago—on Aug. 26, 1957.

It was suggested that Khrushchev Friday could have meant a missile able to travel somewhat over 12,000 miles, rather than a rocket built to circle the earth.

A rocket with a range of more than 12,000 miles could reach about halfway around the world, which has a 25,000-mile circumference. Thus, nearly every point on the globe would be within its reach, depending on the direction in which it was fired.

Titan Shot Scores

U.S. missilemen have fired at least four Atlas ICBMs more than 9,000 miles. Friday, the Air Force successfully tested a Titan II rocket calculated to have a potential of perhaps 12,000 miles. The first test shot of the Titan II, from Cape Canaveral, was described as covering more than 5,000 miles into the Southern Atlantic.

In his Moscow speech, Khrushchev said the new Russian rocket

N. Y. Eyes Tougher Rules In Wake of Babes' Deaths

ALBANY, NY. (AP)—The state moved today toward stricter regulations on hospital nurseries, in the wake of the salt-poisoning deaths of six babies at Binghamton General Hospital.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner, reported Friday that preliminary tests showed the six infants, fed a formula made with salt rather than sugar, died of "toxemia due to high salt intake." Toxemia is a form of blood poisoning.

He said 14 babies at the city-owned hospital received the salt-filled formula. Eleven showed symptoms of poisoning and six died.

Hilleboe recommended revision of the state sanitary code to ban salt and other hazardous substances from hospital areas where food for infants is prepared.

The Public Health Council, which sets the state sanitary code, meets Friday in Buffalo. Hilleboe is a member.

The State Social Welfare Department, meanwhile recommended three changes in staffing and procedure in the Binghamton hospital nursery and infant wards.

Salt was found in the sugar container in the room where formula for the infants was prepared. The hospital has suspended the practical nurse who refilled the formula room sugar container from a larger can in the hospital kitchen.

The nurse has said she filled the container with what she thought was sugar. The salt and sugar were in similar cans, side by side, in the kitchen.

Hilleboe said any disciplinary proceedings against the nurse were up to the hospital, which

Technicality May Wipe Out Ravena Dairyman

Empty Container in Barn Reminds Farmer of $20,899 in U. S. Fines

RAVENA, N. Y. (AP)—Jesse R. Stalker keeps an empty 20-quart milk container in his barn to remind him that the government says he owes $20,899 in fines.

"It makes me sick just to look at that can," Stalker says.

The government is attempting to collect the $20,899 in fines because he bought cream in 20-quart containers when his own herd did not produce enough cream to keep pace with retail demand.

Stalker, who is fighting the fine, says he did not know about the regulation and "If the fine holds up, I'll either have to sell my herd of 175 cows or mortgage the farm."

Stalker sells his dairy products to housewives and restaurants in this area near Albany.

Twenty-quart containers are defined as bulk containers by the U.S. Agriculture Department and under a rule adopted in 1958, the purchaser must make payments into a market equalization pool.

The fine covers an 18-month period during which Stalker bought cream in 20-quart containers and did not contribute to the marketing pool.

The fine is figured at three cents a quart on the cream he bought in excess of a 4,800-quart exemption. Stalker sells 1,150 quarts of milk and cream a day.

"All I've been thinking about since the 1959 audit (when the agriculture department checked his books and levied the fine,) he said, "is my farm and how my wife and I are both sick thinking a lifetime of hard work could be wiped out by technicality."

The couple has four children.

A U.S. judicial officer, after hearing Stalker's defense in 1961, allowed him time to present his case in court before paying the fine.

His civil suit currently is on file in U.S. District Court in Utica.

Stalker said the cream that caused the trouble was delivered in 20-quart containers.

"I had been ordering cream by phone, without specifying how it was to be delivered, for 20 years," he said.

"If I had been buying extra cream in two-quart cans instead of 20-quart cans," he said "I wouldn't be having all this trouble."

Upstaters Await Report on Plane

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Six Upstate New York families waited today for word on the fate of 107 persons aboard a chartered airliner missing in the Pacific.

Six Upstate men were among the 93 military personnel on the big plane when it disappeared.

Some of the relatives clung to hope. Others said nothing in public.

Volunteered for Saigon

"It's better that he went down in the ocean than crashing on land. He will have a better chance to survive," Helen Ganance of Rensselaer said Friday.

Her brother, Sgt. Clarence F. Ganance Jr., 34, had been stationed with the Signal Corps at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., but had volunteered to go to Saigon, Miss Ganance said.

The sergeant who is not married, has been in the Army since he was 17 and looked forward to retirement in about three years, the sister said.

"With modern life rafts that blow up in a second and rations —we have high hopes he will be picked up," she told a reporter.

Spec. 5 Fred W. Talbot of Salamanca, another Army career man, also volunteered for special assignment in the Far East.

He visited his wife and 2-year-old son, Fred, and his mother, Mrs. Earl Cowen in Salamanca about two weeks ago.

Talbot, 31, also has been in service since he was 17 and recently had been stationed at Dugway Proving Grounds in Utah.

Won't Give Up Hope

Spec. Lawrence A. Fox of Canastota had volunteered for a 12-month tour with a special unit in South Viet Nam, his family reported.

"We're not going to give up hope yet—there may have been some little mistake," said his aunt, Mrs. George Ely.

Fox, who has been in the Army for five years, also was home about two weeks ago.

Sgt. Robert J. Bako, another of the men aboard the plane, had moved his wife and 7-month-old daughter to Elbridge, near Syracuse, only last month. They formerly lived in Junction City, Kan.

Bako has been in the Army for seven years and is 31.

Also reported missing were Spec. 4 Douglas A. Haaf of North Syracuse and Spec. George M. Slocum of Westfield.

Haaf, 21, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haaf of North Syracuse.

Slocum is the son of Mrs. George M. Slocum of Westfield.

Dublin Is Going All-Out Despite New Labor Woes

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Labor troubles plagued Ireland this St. Patrick's Day, but they didn't stop the Irish from dreaming up the biggest, brightest holiday ever.

Still short of matches as a result of a two-month wage strike by workers at a local match company, Dublin now faces a walkout by employes of the state-run television network unless they get a 20 per cent pay hike.

Need Miracle for Light

The walkout at the Friendly Match Co. was settled Thursday, but the new supply is still in the works. If the saint himself came marching down O'Connell Street and wanted a smoke, he'd need a miracle to find a light.

Still more industrial confusion was caused by the holiday falling on a Saturday. Some 500 stevedores walked off Dublin docks Friday saying they were treating Friday as Saturday and taking the rest of the day off.

But Dubliners took their troubles in stride and concentrated on making this feast day for Ireland's patron saint one to remember.

The highlight of the program was a mammoth parade through Dublin with 15 bands blaring and dozens of festooned floats. Also on the docket was a packed sports program with hurling, gaelic football, racing and a soccer match.

Hong Kong Shillelaghs

Bad weather has caused a shortage of shamrocks that normally blanket the land, but street vendors managed to scare up small sprigs and were peddling them at three shillings — 42 cents—a bunch.

The souvenir shops had plenty of plastic shillelaghs — made in Hong Kong—to catch the tourist trade.

For Ireland, St. Patrick's Day is above all a religious festival. This year it marks the end of the Patrician Year celebrations — a year of religious dedication marking the 15th centenary of St. Patrick's death.

Norton Is Named To Public Works Post by Schwenk

Mayor John J. Schwenk today announced the appointment of James G. Norton of 14 Shufeldt Street as a commissioner to the Board of Public Works to fill the unexpired term of John Lawson. Lawson's term would have run until Sept. 8, 1962 but he resigned to accept an appointment on the Urban Renewal Executive Advisory Committee.

Former Engineer Head

Norton is a retired licensed professional engineer and graduate civil engineer, who has years of experience in the construction of roads, highways, bridges and public buildings. From 1934 to 1935 he was superintendent of the Kingston Department of Public Works, and from 1935 to 1941 was Kingston City Engineer. During his years as city engineer he was in charge of the WPA projects which gave Kingston its tumor clinic. He also spent many years with the New York State Department of Public Works and was a captain in the U. S. Army Engineers Corp during World War 2.

Norton is a member of the New York State Society of Professional Engineers, Ulster County Chapter, holding both a professional engineers and land surveyors license. He is a graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic

A native of Kingston, he graduated from Kingston Academy. He is a member of St. John's Episcopal Church.

Research Nears Breakthrough

Cancer Cure Is Closer, Phoenix Seminar Hears

Research progress approaching a breakthrough and possible cure for cancer was evident from various disclosures reported at the American Cancer Society's science writers seminar which held its closing session Thursday at Phoenix, Ariz.

The discovery that peroxide, a bleach that changes brunettes into blondes, makes cancers more sensitive to disease-killing radiation was one of the disclosures.

Another report has medical researchers mending diseased cells by making them absorb biological chemicals that change damaged human blood cells into normal healthy units.

Another encouraging report was the test for a vaccine now underway involving 120 persons between the ages of 60 and 70 in Sweden. If progress is favorable more than 12,000 persons will have received experimental vaccine before 1965.

The use of peroxide has had significant success in recent X-ray treatment tests of various types of cancer. Medical researchers have been aware for some time that oxygen makes cancers more sensitive to disease-killing radiation. The problem was to keep the oxygen in and around the tumor while the infected area was bombarded by X-rays.

Hydrogen peroxide which is known to expell oxygen is now

Sabotage, Hijacking Possible

Chances for 107 Are Slim: Report

MANILA (AP) — Search planes reported sighting five partially submerged objects in the western Pacific today along the scheduled route of a chartered airliner that vanished with 107 persons aboard. No persons were seen in the immediate vicinity.

Destroyer on Way

The U.S. destroyer Brister was dispatched to determine what the objects are. The Joint Rescue Center at Agana, Guam, said the Brister is expected to reach the area at dawn Sunday. A KC97 plane was ordered to circle above the objects until the Brister arrives.

Meanwhile, in Burbank, Calif., investigators gathered to re-fly, step by step, the route taken by the airliner.

Probers, who hope to find a clue, somewhere along the line to the mysterious disappearance of the craft, have hinted sabotage and also that a possibility exists that the super-constellation was hijacked.

Photographic Squadron 61 at Guam sent a Sky Warrior jet to photograph the objects in hopes that the pictures might reveal some identification and possibly furnish a clue to the fate of the four-engine Super Constellation of the Flying Tiger Line.

Chances Get Slimmer

A U.S. Air Force spokesman declared earlier that "chances are getting slimmer every minute" that any aboard the missing plane would be found alive. The plane was presumed to have crashed or ditched after leaving Guam Thursday night for a 1,600-mile hop to Clark Air Force Base near Manila.

The propeller-driven plane, with a crew of 11 Americans, left Travis Air Force Base in northern California Tuesday carrying 93 U.S. Army men and three South Vietnamese bound for South Viet Nam. The Army men reportedly were to join the U.S. forces bolstering the South Viet Nam government's fight against the Communist Viet Cong guerrilllas.

The plane made scheduled refueling and service stops at Hawaii, Wake Island and Guam. It was last heard from 270 miles west of Guam, when the pilot radioed a routine message without a hint of trouble.

After fruitless flights Friday, officials tripled the search area and pressed nearly 100 planes and nine ships into systematic criss-crossing of more than 250,000 square miles of calm Pacific waters.

More than 50 planes from U.S. Air Force and naval installations in the Philippines and 40 more from U.S. bases on Guam scoured almost every conceivable path the pilot of the missing plane might have taken.

Flights were sent up during the night in hopes that flares would be sighted. None was seen. But nobody was ready to give up.

At Clark Field, Gen. Theodore R. Milton, commander of the 13th Air Force, said search and maintenance crews were "ready to work their heads off and the only way they'll stop is if they're ordered to."

A search plane sighted what was thought to be a life raft, the Air Force said, but it turned out to be a piece of driftwood.

Both Claim Victory in Galilee Clash

Guatemala Under Control of Army

GUATEMALA (AP)—The army held this riot-torn Central American capital under virtual martial law today as opposition mounted to President Miguel Ydigoras' conservative regime. Army troops chased two guerrilla bands in the hills.

The army seized control of the city on Ydigoras' orders following four days of street fighting and other violence that left 20 persons dead and more than 200 injured. More than 250 persons reportedly have been arrested.

The army declared it was ready to take extreme measures to put down students protesting what they called fraud in last December's elections that returned Ydigoras' conservative party to control of Congress.

Heavily armed troops took over key communication and transportation points and patrolled the streets. An 8 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew was clamped on the city. Antigovernment strikes spread and businesses shut down. Commercial life was nearly stopped.

The army also searched for two small, rebel bands in the mountains in northern and northeastern Guatemala.

Water Board Head Denies Statement On Fluoridation

A statement coming out of the Thursday night meeting of Kingston Water Board declaring "action on the fluoridation of the city's water supply was not the perogative of the water board," is not true, Donald R. Hyatt, water board president, said today.

The official release was used by local press and radio Friday.

Hyatt termed the release "a mistake."

Speaking for the water board, Hyatt said the Board of Water Commissioners feel it is their perogative to fluoridate Kingston's water. Whether or not they will exercise this perogative is something they will decide in the future.

The only action the commissioners took at the Thursday night meeting regarding fluoridation was to grant a request of the Kingston Pure Water Committee to meet with the board at their April meeting, he said.

Observers recalled that when Russia made its first claim to having successfully tested an intercontinental missile, it said the rocket could hit any spot on the globe. That was more than 4½ years ago—on Aug. 26, 1957.

It was suggested that Khrushchev Friday could have meant a missile able to travel somewhat over 12,000 miles, rather than a rocket built to circle the earth.

A rocket with a range of more than 12,000 miles could reach about halfway around the world, which has a 25,000-mile circumference. Thus, nearly every point on the globe would be within its reach, depending on the direction in which it was fired.

Titan Shot Scores

U.S. missilemen have fired at least four Atlas ICBMs more than 9,000 miles. Friday, the Air Force successfully tested a Titan II rocket calculated to have a potential of perhaps 12,000 miles. The first test shot of the Titan II, from Cape Canaveral, was described as covering more than 5,000 miles into the Southern Atlantic.

In his Moscow speech, Khrushchev said the new Russian rocket

N. Y. Eyes Tougher Rules In Wake of Babes' Deaths

ALBANY, NY. (AP)—The state moved today toward stricter regulations on hospital nurseries, in the wake of the salt-poisoning deaths of six babies at Binghamton General Hospital.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner, reported Friday that preliminary tests showed the six infants, fed a formula made with salt rather than sugar, died of "toxemia due to high salt intake." Toxemia is a form of blood poisoning.

He said 14 babies at the city-owned hospital received the salt-filled formula. Eleven showed symptoms of poisoning and six died.

Hilleboe recommended revision of the state sanitary code to ban salt and other hazardous substances from hospital areas where food for infants is prepared.

The Public Health Council, which sets the state sanitary code, meets Friday in Buffalo. Hilleboe is a member.

The State Social Welfare Department, meanwhile recommended three changes in staffing and procedure in the Binghamton hospital nursery and infant wards.

Salt was found in the sugar container in the room where formula for the infants was prepared. The hospital has suspended the practical nurse who refilled the formula room sugar container from a larger can in the hospital kitchen.

The nurse has said she filled the container with what she thought was sugar. The salt and sugar were in similar cans, side by side, in the kitchen.

Hilleboe said any disciplinary proceedings against the nurse were up to the hospital, which

Technicality May Wipe Out Ravena Dairyman

Empty Container in Barn Reminds Farmer of $20,899 in U. S. Fines

RAVENA, N. Y. (AP)—Jesse R. Stalker keeps an empty 20-quart milk container in his barn to remind him that the government says he owes $20,899 in fines.

"It makes me sick just to look at that can," Stalker says.

The government is attempting to collect the $20,899 in fines because he bought cream in 20-quart containers when his own herd did not produce enough cream to keep pace with retail demand.

Stalker, who is fighting the fine, says he did not know about the regulation and "If the fine holds up, I'll either have to sell my herd of 175 cows or mortgage the farm."

Stalker sells his dairy products to housewives and restaurants in this area near Albany.

Twenty-quart containers are defined as bulk containers by the U.S. Agriculture Department and under a rule adopted in 1958, the purchaser must make payments into a market equalization pool.

The fine covers an 18-month period during which Stalker bought cream in 20-quart containers and did not contribute to the marketing pool.

The fine is figured at three cents a quart on the cream he bought in excess of a 4,800-quart exemption. Stalker sells 1,150 quarts of milk and cream a day.

"All I've been thinking about since the 1959 audit (when the agriculture department checked his books and levied the fine,) he said, "is my farm and how my wife and I are both sick thinking a lifetime of hard work could be wiped out by technicality."

The couple has four children.

A U.S. judicial officer, after hearing Stalker's defense in 1961, allowed him time to present his case in court before paying the fine.

His civil suit currently is on file in U.S. District Court in Utica.

Stalker said the cream that caused the trouble was delivered in 20-quart containers.

"I had been ordering cream by phone, without specifying how it was to be delivered, for 20 years," he said.

"If I had been buying extra cream in two-quart cans instead of 20-quart cans," he said "I wouldn't be having all this trouble."

Upstaters Await Report on Plane

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Six Upstate New York families waited today for word on the fate of 107 persons aboard a chartered airliner missing in the Pacific.

Six Upstate men were among the 93 military personnel on the big plane when it disappeared.

Some of the relatives clung to hope. Others said nothing in public.

Volunteered for Saigon

"It's better that he went down in the ocean than crashing on land. He will have a better chance to survive," Helen Ganance of Rensselaer said Friday.

Her brother, Sgt. Clarence F. Ganance Jr., 34, had been stationed with the Signal Corps at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., but had volunteered to go to Saigon, Miss Ganance said.

The sergeant who is not married, has been in the Army since he was 17 and looked forward to retirement in about three years, the sister said.

"With modern life rafts that blow up in a second and rations—we have high hopes he will be picked up," she told a reporter.

Spec. 5 Fred W. Talbot of Salamanca, another Army career man, also volunteered for special assignment in the Far East.

He visited his wife and 2-year-old son, Fred, and his mother, Mrs. Earl Cowen in Salamanca about two weeks ago.

Talbot, 31, also has been in service since he was 17 and recently had been stationed at Dugway Proving Grounds in Utah.

Won't Give Up Hope

Spec. Lawrence A. Fox of Canastota had volunteered for a 12-month tour with a special unit in South Viet Nam, his family reported.

"We're not going to give up hope yet—there may have been some little mistake," said his aunt, Mrs. George Ely.

Fox, who has been in the Army for five years, also was home about two weeks ago.

Sgt. Robert J. Bako, another of the men aboard the plane, had moved his wife and 7-month-old daughter to Elbridge, near Syracuse, only last month. They formerly lived in Junction City, Kan.

Bako has been in the Army for seven years and is 31.

Also reported missing were Spec. 4 Douglas A. Haaf of North Syracuse and Spec. George M. Slocum of Westfield.

Haaf, 21, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haaf of North Syracuse.

Slocum is the son of Mrs. George M. Slocum of Westfield.

Great Day, Bygorry

Dublin Is Going All-Out Despite New Labor Woes

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Labor troubles plagued Ireland this St. Patrick's Day, but they didn't stop the Irish from dreaming up the biggest, brightest holiday ever.

Still short of matches as a result of a two-month wage strike by workers at a local match company, Dublin now faces a walkout by employes of the state-run television network unless they get a 20 per cent pay hike.

Need Miracle for Light

The walkout at the Friendly Match Co. was settled Thursday, but the new supply is still in the works. If the saint himself came marching down O'Connell Street and wanted a smoke, he'd need a miracle to find a light.

Still more industrial confusion was caused by the holiday falling on a Saturday. Some 500 stevedores walked off Dublin docks Friday saying they were treating Friday as Saturday and taking the rest of the day off.

But Dubliners took their troubles in stride and concentrated on making this feast day for Ireland's patron saint one to remember.

The highlight of the program was a mammoth parade through Dublin with 15 bands blaring and dozens of festooned floats. Also on the docket was a packed sports program with hurling, gaelic football, racing and a soccer match.

Hong Kong Shillelaghs

Bad weather has caused a shortage of shamrocks that normally blanket the land, but street vendors managed to scare up small sprigs and were peddling them at three shillings — 42 cents—a bunch.

The souvenir shops had plenty of plastic shillelaghs — made in Hong Kong—to catch the tourist trade.

For Ireland, St. Patrick's Day is above all a religious festival. This year it marks the end of the Patrician Year celebrations — a year of religious dedication marking the 15th centenary of St. Patrick's death.

Norton Is Named To Public Works Post by Schwenk

Mayor John J. Schwenk today announced the appointment of James G. Norton of 14 Shufeldt Street as a commissioner to the Board of Public Works to fill the unexpired term of John Lawson. Lawson's term would have run until Sept. 8, 1962 but he resigned to accept an appointment on the Urban Renewal Executive Advisory Committee.

Former Engineer Head

Norton is a retired licensed professional engineer and graduate civil engineer, who has years of experience in the construction of roads, highways, bridges and public buildings. From 1934 to 1935 he was superintendent of the Kingston Department of Public Works, and from 1935 to 1941 was Kingston City Engineer. During his years as city engineer he was in charge of the WPA projects which gave Kingston its tumor clinic. He also spent many years with the New York State Department of Public Works and was a captain in the U. S. Army Engineers Corp during World War 2.

Norton is a member of the New York State Society of Professional Engineers, Ulster County Chapter, holding both a professional engineers and land surveyors license. He is a graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic

A native of Kingston, he graduated from Kingston Academy. He is a member of St. John's Episcopal Church.

Research Nears Breakthrough

Cancer Cure Is Closer, Phoenix Seminar Hears

Research progress approaching a breakthrough and possible cure for cancer was evident from various disclosures reported at the American Cancer Society's science writers seminar which held its closing session Thursday at Phoenix, Ariz.

The discovery that peroxide, a bleach that changes brunettes into blondes, makes cancers more sensitive to disease-killing radiation was one of the disclosures.

Another report has medical researchers mending diseased cells by making them absorb biological chemicals that change damaged human blood cells into normal healthy units.

Another encouraging report was the test for a vaccine now underway involving 120 persons between the ages of 60 and 70 in Sweden. If progress is favorable more than 12,000 persons will have received experimental vaccine before 1965.

The use of peroxide has had significant success in recent X-ray treatment tests of various types of cancer. Medical researchers have been aware for some time that oxygen makes cancers more sensitive to disease-killing radiation. The problem was to keep the oxygen in and around the tumor while the infected area was bombarded by X-rays.

Hydrogen peroxide which is known to expell oxygen is now

Sabotage, Hijacking Possible

Chances for 107 Are Slim: Report

MANILA (AP) — Search planes reported sighting five partially submerged objects in the western Pacific today along the scheduled route of a chartered airliner that vanished with 107 persons aboard. No persons were seen in the immediate vicinity.

Destroyer on Way

The U.S. destroyer Brister was dispatched to determine what the objects are. The Joint Rescue Center at Agana, Guam, said the Brister is expected to reach the area at dawn Sunday. A KC97 plane was ordered to circle above the objects until the Brister arrives.

Meanwhile, in Burbank, Calif., investigators gathered to re-fly, step by step, the route taken by the airliner.

Probers, who hope to find a clue, somewhere along the line to the mysterious disappearance of the craft, have hinted sabotage and also that a possibility exists that the super-constellation was hijacked.

Photographic Squadron 61 at Guam sent a Sky Warrior jet to photograph the objects in hopes that the pictures might reveal some identification and possibly furnish a clue to the fate of the four-engine Super Constellation of the Flying Tiger Line.

Chances Get Slimmer

A U.S. Air Force spokesman declared earlier that "chances are getting slimmer every minute" that any aboard the missing plane would be found alive. The plane was presumed to have crashed or ditched after leaving Guam Thursday night for a 1,600-mile hop to Clark Air Force Base near Manila.

The propeller-driven plane, with a crew of 11 Americans, left Travis Air Force Base in northern California Tuesday carrying 93 U.S. Army men and three South Vietnamese bound for South Viet Nam. The Army men reportedly were to join the U.S. forces bolstering the South Viet Nam government's fight against the Communist Viet Cong guerrilllas.

The plane made scheduled refueling and service stops at Hawaii, Wake Island and Guam. It was last heard from 270 miles west of Guam, when the pilot radioed a routine message without a hint of trouble.

After fruitless flights Friday, officials tripled the search area and pressed nearly 100 planes and nine ships into systematic criss-crossing of more than 250,000 square miles of calm Pacific waters.

More than 50 planes from U.S. Air Force and naval installations in the Philippines and 40 more from U.S. bases on Guam scoured almost every conceivable path the pilot of the missing plane might have taken.

Flights were sent up during the night in hopes that flares would be sighted. None was seen. But nobody was ready to give up.

At Clark Field, Gen. Theodore R. Milton, commander of the 13th Air Force, said search and maintenance crews were "ready to work their heads off and the only way they'll stop is if they're ordered to."

A search plane sighted what was thought to be a life raft, the Air Force said, but it turned out to be a piece of driftwood.

Both Claim Victory in Galilee Clash

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Israeli and Syrian forces clashed Friday night in a bitter, air-land battle on the eastern shore of the Sea of Galilee inflicting heavy casualties in the gravest outbreak in two years.

Each side claimed a victory in the running frontier battle that involved tanks and artillery as well as the Syrian and Israeli air forces.

Say 30 Syrians Killed

An Israeli army spokesman claimed at least 30 Syrians, including a company commander, were killed as Israeli forces launched a hit-run invasion of Syria, knocking out gun positions. He placed Israeli troop losses at five dead and six seriously wounded. The Israeli force also captured a large amount of Syrian arms and ammunition, the spokesman said.

A Syrian army spokesman said

Guatemala Under Control of Army

GUATEMALA (AP)—The army held this riot-torn Central American capital under virtual martial law today as opposition mounted to President Miguel Ydigoras' conservative regime. Army troops chased two guerrilla bands in the hills.

The army seized control of the city on Ydigoras' orders following four days of street fighting and other violence that left 20 persons dead and more than 200 injured. More than 250 persons reportedly have been arrested.

The army declared it was ready to take extreme measures to put down students protesting what they called fraud in last December's elections that returned Ydigoras' conservative party to control of Congress.

Heavily armed troops took over key communication and transportation points and patrolled the streets. An 8 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew was clamped on the city. Antigovernment strikes spread and businesses shut down. Commercial life was nearly stopped.

The army also searched for two small, rebel bands in the mountains in northern and northeastern Guatemala.

Water Board Head Denies Statement On Fluoridation

A statement coming out of the Thursday night meeting of Kingston Water Board declaring "action on the fluoridation of the city's water supply was not the perogative of the water board," is not true, Donald R. Hyatt, water board president, said today.

The official release was used by local press and radio Friday.

Hyatt termed the release "a mistake."

Speaking for the water board, Hyatt said the Board of Water Commissioners feel it is their perogative to fluoridate Kingston's water. Whether or not they will exercise this perogative is something they will decide in the future.

The only action the commissioners took at the Thursday night meeting regarding fluoridation was to grant a request of the Kingston Pure Water Committee to meet with the board at their April meeting, he said.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

The faith of an uneducated youth led St. Patrick from slavery to sainthood.

Captured in a pirate raid on Britain at the age of 16, he was taken to Ireland. "Every day I had to tend sheep," he wrote, "and many times a day I prayed—the love of God and His fear came to me more and more, and my faith was strengthened."

Escaping to Gaul six years later, he dreamed of bringing the love of Christ to his captors. He studied for the priesthood, was consecrated Bishop, and returned to Ireland. There he converted the country to Christianity improving the lot of slaves, uniting ethics with law, denouncing hatred and bloodshed, and giving "Him thanks who hath strengthened me in everything."

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

The faith of an uneducated youth led St. Patrick from slavery to sainthood.

Captured in a pirate raid on Britain at the age of 16, he was taken to Ireland. "Every day I had to tend sheep," he wrote, "and many times a day I prayed—the love of God and His fear came to me more and more, and my faith was strengthened."

Escaping to Gaul six years later, he dreamed of bringing the love of Christ to his captors. He studied for the priesthood, was consecrated Bishop, and returned to Ireland. There he converted the country to Christianity improving the lot of slaves, uniting ethics with law, denouncing hatred and bloodshed, and giving "Him thanks who hath strengthened me in everything."

Speaker Slated For Y Services On Good Friday

REV. EDWIN C. COON

The YMCA Good Friday communion service will take place 8 a. m. Friday, April 20, in the Y building, Broadway. The Rev. Edwin C. Coon, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, will officiate.

The eighth annual Good Friday service is planned for the board of directors, trustees and committeemen vitally interested in the promotion of all YMCA work in the community. Each year Secretary Louis H. Schafer obtains services of a local minister to officiate and give the meditation. A rotation plan is used so as to have a different clergyman representing the various churches of Kingston.

The service will start promptly at 8 a. m. There will be no breakfast.

Rummage Sale Twist Helps Hospitals in Mission Field

PERU, Ill. (AP)—A minister in this Northern Illinois town has given a new twist to the old-fashioned rummage sale and hopes his variation will grow into a nationwide effort to help foreign missionaries.

The Rev. Ralph Burlingham, pastor of the Peru Congregational Church, suggests churches and individuals collect discarded but usable medical equipment—outmoded X-ray machines, operating tables, needles, syringes and the like—and ship them to remote areas where churchmen tell him they are needed sorely.

He is convinced such equipment is in good supply in hospital storerooms across the country and with hardly any effort at all, he has collected a couple of cast-off operating tables and an operating room light originally valued at $5,300.

Started by Chance

A chance observation of a new X-ray machine in his home town hospital and an article he read in a church publication gave the Rev. Mr. Burlingham his idea.

The article, written by Dr. Ben Herbster, president of the United Church of Christ, described the lack of equipment in overseas mission stations and hospitals.

What happened to the local hospital's old X-ray machine? The Rev. Mr. Burlingham wondered when he read the article.

A telephone call established that the old machine was junked after the new equipment was installed. He then broadened his survey to determine what equipment was wanted and what was available.

He fired off letters to 13 mission doctors. He visited or made telephone calls to hospitals in central Illinois and Chicago. He contacted the Church World Service Agency of the National Council of Churches to learn what was being done along that line.

Typical of the list of needs was the reply from Dr. Hale Henry Cook, a missionary in India.

He needed any hospital utensils of stainless steel, operating room tables with standard adjustments, bedside locker tables, steel cabinets, one-use needles, syringes, intravenous tubing sets, X-ray cassettes, adjustable over-bed tables, portable, battery-operated electrocardiograph, repairable operating room instruments of stainless steel and stretchers.

Hospitals Cooperate

The Illinois minister already has received offers of cooperation from two hospitals in Chicago and three in downstate Illinois.

He also found that the United Church of Christ participates in a plan sponsored by the National Council of Churches whereby the United States government pays for the transportation of such supplies from port to port.

He said he learned that Church World Service, an agency of the National Council of Churches, will crate and waterproof supplies for overseas missions and deliver them to the pier from any of their warehouses.

Lutheran Hour Carries Gospel To Huge Audience

Probably no preacher anywhere in the world has a bigger audience for his regular weekly sermons than the Rev. Dr. Oswald Hoffmann, speaker on The Lutheran Hour, heard locally on WKNY at 4:30 p. m. every Sunday.

His Gospel messages, adapted and translated for broadcast into more than 100 lands, to each in its own language, have an estimated weekly audience of 25,000,000 persons.

Engineers who recently conducted a technical survey of its overseas broadcasts report that The Lutheran Hour rivals in size the radio operations of the Republic of France. Only larger broadcasting operations are those conducted by the governments of the United States, Russia, and Great Britain, in that order.

No other religious or commercial radio program approaches the world-wide scope of The Lutheran Hour, which has as its motto and sole purpose, Bringing Christ to the Nations. This international radio ministry is sponsored by the Lutheran Laymen's League, 100,000-member affiliate of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Funds for the program—more than $1,500,000 a year—come from the listeners and friends. The Lutheran Hour pays for broadcast time on almost all of its more than 1,000 independent, Mutual, and NBC stations.

To carry out its purpose of Bringing Christ to the Nations, The Lutheran Hour does not stop with the broadcast word. It follows up its broadcasts with written and personal contact wherever possible, even behind the Iron Curtain.

Corning to Ban Tropic of Cancer

CORNING, N.Y. (AP)—Mayor Joseph Nasser and Police Chief William E. Rowe feel Henry Miller's novel, "Tropic of Cancer," is obscene and, in Nasser's words, "will not allow it to be sold in the City of Corning."

Rowe said Friday that the ban takes effect on Monday and that news stands and stores selling books have been informed of it. Violators of the ban will be prosecuted for selling obscene literature, he said.

In Syracuse earlier in the week, three employes of a large downtown bookstore were arrested for selling the novel and were later released in bail of $500 each after pleading innocent to charges of selling obscene literature.

The book was published in the United States last June by Grove Press of New York City. Copies originally published in Paris in 1934 were not allowed in the United States by U.S. Customs.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Seeks Stock Program To Bolster Retirement

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I am 61 years old and plan to retire soon on a $3,400 a year pension. My husband will have his own income, so I'm looking at mine from strictly a personal angle. After thirty-eight years of married life, we're compatible; he loves me right down to the flap of his billfold. In my name, I have $10,000 in savings, $2,000 in mutual funds and $22,000 in cash. I plan to spend all of my income after retirement, but prefer not to use any of the principal unless I have an uncontrollable desire to go on a bust. How should I invest?" J.K.

A) I must say that you've retained your own individuality, which speaks well for a marriage of nearly forty years. Financially, you are in pretty good shape. The pension plus the income on your investments ought to be more than enough to live on, and if you do decide to take a big holiday, you should be able to do it without making much of a dent in your own pocketbook. My advice is that you use the $22,000 you now have in cash to buy some good common stocks. I suggest you buy five issues: Northern Illinois Gas, Avco, Manhattan Shirt, EliLilly and Idaha Power. At present rates, these stocks will pay you aggregate dividends of about $550 yearly. Also, I believe their growth potentials are strong enough so that as time goes by you will be able to sell a few shares for an occasional frolic and still not reduce the amount of your initial investment.

Q) "Would you please give me your opinion of Swank?" R.M.

A) With pleasure. Swank, a well-known producer of men's accessories, appears to have quite a bit of speculative promise. Earnings have climbed steadily in recent years and the shares sell reasonably low in relation to projected results. In my opinion, Swank deserves consideration by accounts which can assume a good deal of market risk.

Medical Group States Views on Fluoridation

The Medical Society of the County of Ulster today re-affirmed its 1956 position that drinking water containing the recommended concentration of fluorine is both "dentally effective" and "medically safe".

In a letter to Kingston Water Board commissioner Donald Hyatt, the County Medical Society said that there has been no change in its viewpoint since fluoridation was investigated by a special committee for The Society in 1956.

The committee at that time concluded that "studies have failed to reveal any harmful side reactions or injurious processes resulting from controlled artificial fluoridation of drinking water as recommended by the Health Department of the State of New York."

The committee at that time also agreed that "studies have definitely proven that the incidence of dental decay is diminished in those communites in which the proper concentration of fluorine is present, whether naturally occuring or artificially added."

In its letter to Hyatt, the County Medical Society indicated that it is "intensely interested in the controversy now going on over the question of fluoridation of the Kingston City water supply and that in view of the fact that many organizations and individuals are expressing their views and most discussions indicate the possibility of medical implications, the Medical Society feels it important to go on record with its views.

Speaker Slated For Y Services On Good Friday

REV. EDWIN C. COON

The YMCA Good Friday communion service will take place 8 a. m. Friday, April 20, in the Y building, Broadway. The Rev. Edwin C. Coon, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, will officiate.

The eighth annual Good Friday service is planned for the board of directors, trustees and committeemen vitally interested in the promotion of all YMCA work in the community. Each year Secretary Louis H. Schafer obtains services of a local minister to officiate and give the meditation. A rotation plan is used so as to have a different clergyman representing the various churches of Kingston.

The service will start promptly at 8 a. m. There will be no breakfast.

Rummage Sale Twist Helps Hospitals in Mission Field

PERU, Ill. (AP)—A minister in this Northern Illinois town has given a new twist to the old-fashioned rummage sale and hopes his variation will grow into a nationwide effort to help foreign missionaries.

The Rev. Ralph Burlingham, pastor of the Peru Congregational Church, suggests churches and individuals collect discarded but usable medical equipment—outmoded X-ray machines, operating tables, needles, syringes and the like—and ship them to remote areas where churchmen tell him they are needed sorely.

He is convinced such equipment is in good supply in hospital storerooms across the country and with hardly any effort at all, he has collected a couple of cast-off operating tables and an operating room light originally valued at $5,300.

Started by Chance

A chance observation of a new X-ray machine in his home town hospital and an article he read in a church publication gave the Rev. Mr. Burlingham his idea.

The article, written by Dr. Ben Herbster, president of the United Church of Christ, described the lack of equipment in overseas mission stations and hospitals.

What happened to the local hospital's old X-ray machine? The Rev. Mr. Burlingham wondered when he read the article.

A telephone call established that the old machine was junked after the new equipment was installed.

He then broadened his survey to determine what equipment was wanted and what was available.

He fired off letters to 13 mission doctors. He visited or made telephone calls to hospitals in central Illinois and Chicago. He contacted the Church World Service Agency of the National Council of Churches to learn what was being done along that line.

Typical of the list of needs was the reply from Dr. Hale Henry Cook, a missionary in India.

He needed any hospital utensils of stainless steel, operating room tables with standard adjustments, bedside locker tables, steel cabinets, one-use needles, syringes, intravenous tubing sets, X-ray cassettes, adjustable over-bed tables, portable, battery-operated electrocardiograph, repairable operating room instruments of stainless steel and stretchers.

Hospitals Cooperate

The Illinois minister already has received offers of cooperation from two hospitals in Chicago and three in downstate Illinois.

He also found that the United Church of Christ participates in a plan sponsored by the National Council of Churches whereby the United States government pays for the transportation of such supplies from port to port.

He said he learned that Church World Service, an agency of the National Council of Churches, will crate and waterproof supplies for overseas missions and deliver them to the pier from any of their warehouses.

Lutheran Hour Carries Gospel To Huge Audience

Probably no preacher anywhere in the world has a bigger audience for his regular weekly sermons than the Rev. Dr. Oswald Hoffmann, speaker on The Lutheran Hour, heard locally on WKNY at 4:30 p. m. every Sunday.

His Gospel messages, adapted and translated for broadcast into more than 100 lands, to each in its own language, have an estimated weekly audience of 25,000,000 persons.

Engineers who recently conducted a technical survey of its overseas broadcasts report that The Lutheran Hour rivals in size the radio operations of the Republic of France. Only larger broadcasting operations are those conducted by the governments of the United States, Russia, and Great Britain, in that order.

No other religious or commercial radio program approaches the world-wide scope of The Lutheran Hour, which has as its motto and sole purpose, Bringing Christ to the Nations. This international radio ministry is sponsored by the Lutheran Laymen's League, 100,000-member affiliate of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Funds for the program—more than $1,500,000 a year—come from the listeners and friends. The Lutheran Hour pays for broadcast time on almost all of its more than 1,000 independent, Mutual, and NBC stations.

To carry out its purpose of Bringing Christ to the Nations, The Lutheran Hour does not stop with the broadcast word. It follows up its broadcasts with written and personal contact wherever possible, even behind the Iron Curtain.

Thailand Mission Speaker Slated at Alliance Church

The Rev. Richard W. Tompkins of Thailand, will be speaking at the Christian and Missionary Alliance, Sunday 11 a. m. in the regular worship service. The church is at 131 Franklin Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins opened a mission station in a new pioneer area. The region where they are now stationed had 400,000 people.

The Christian and Missionary Alliance, which is the sixth largest foreign missionary organization, works in Northeast Thailand among eight million people. The Tompkins, while there, were engaged in work among the lepers.

Corning to Ban Tropic of Cancer

CORNING, N.Y. (AP)—Mayor Joseph Nasser and Police Chief William E. Rowe feel Henry Miller's novel, "Tropic of Cancer," is obscene and, in Nasser's words, "will not allow it to be sold in the City of Corning."

Rowe said Friday that the ban takes effect on Monday and that news stands and stores selling books have been informed of it. Violators of the ban will be prosecuted for selling obscene literature, he said.

In Syracuse earlier in the week, three employes of a large downtown bookstore were arrested for selling the novel and were later released in bail of $500 each after pleading innocent to charges of selling obscene literature.

The book was published in the United States last June by Grove Press of New York City. Copies originally published in Paris in 1934 were not allowed in the United States by U.S. Customs.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

ROGER E. SPEAR

Seeks Stock Program To Bolster Retirement

Q) "I am 61 years old and plan to retire soon on a $3,400 a year pension. My husband will have his own income, so I'm looking at mine from strictly a personal angle. After thirty-eight years of married life, we're compatible; he loves me right down to the flap of his billfold. In my name, I have $10,000 in savings, $2,000 in mutual funds and $22,000 in cash. I plan to spend all of my income after retirement, but prefer not to use any of the principal unless I have an uncontrollable desire to go on a bust. How should I invest?" J.K.

A) I must say that you've retained your own individuality, which speaks well for a marriage of nearly forty years. Financially, you are in pretty good shape. The pension plus the income on your investments ought to be more than enough to live on, and if you do decide to take a big holiday, you should be able to do it without making much of a dent in your own pocketbook. My advice is that you use the $22,000 you now have in cash to buy some good common stocks. I suggest you buy five issues: Northern Illinois Gas, Avco, Manhattan Shirt, EliLilly and Idaha Power. At present rates, these stocks will pay you aggregate dividends of about $550 yearly. Also, I believe their growth potentials are strong enough so that as time goes by you will be able to sell a few shares for an occasional frolic and still not reduce the amount of your initial investment.

Q) "Would you please give me your opinion of Swank?" R.M.

A) With pleasure. Swank, a well-known producer of men's accessories, appears to have quite a bit of speculative promise. Earnings have climbed steadily in recent years and the shares sell reasonably low in relation to projected results. In my opinion, Swank deserves consideration by accounts which can assume a good deal of market risk.

Medical Group States Views on Fluoridation

The Medical Society of the County of Ulster today re-affirmed its 1956 position that drinking water containing the recommended concentration of fluorine is both "dentally effective" and "medically safe".

In a letter to Kingston Water Board commissioner Donald Hyatt, the County Medical Society said that there has been no change in its viewpoint since fluoridation was investigated by a special committee for The Society in 1956.

The committee at that time concluded that "studies have failed to reveal any harmful side reactions or injurious processes resulting from controlled artificial fluoridation of drinking water as recommended by the Health Department of the State of New York."

The committee at that time also agreed that "studies have definitely proven that the incidence of dental decay is diminished in those communites in which the proper concentration of fluorine is present, whether naturally occuring or artificially added."

In its letter to Hyatt, the County Medical Society indicated that it is "intensely interested in the controversy now going on over the question of fluoridation of the Kingston City water supply and that in view of the fact that many organizations and individuals are expressing their views and most discussions indicate the possibility of medical implications, the Medical Society feels it important to go on record with its views."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 17, 1962

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Today is St. Patrick's Day, the anniversary of the patron saint of Ireland. This Saint was well loved everywhere and many legends have grown up in connection with his career.

One of the better known of all the legends is how he was responsible for the Shamrock becoming the familiar Irish emblem. One day a group of his followers came to him and admitted that it was difficult for them to believe in the doctrine of the Holy Trinity. Plucking a leaf from the Shamrock, St. Patrick held it before them, bidding them to behold the living example of this "three-in-one." The simple beauty of this explanation convinced them and from that day the Shamrock has been revered throughout Ireland.

In observance of St. Patrick's Day and as a salute to Ireland, green is displayed everywhere. For years in New York City, a green center stripe characterizes New York City's Fifth Avenue during the famed parade. Now at Whiteface Mountain there will be a green ski slope appropriately named Shamrock Run.

Primarily a religious holiday, special church services are held and there are numerous social functions sponsored by church groups.

St. Patrick overcame many perils of his time and made many friends. The Irish people look back to him with great affection, because his courage and cheerfulness have been handed on to so many of his followers.

A population of some 214 million is expected by 1970. If this keeps up, we may yet have to make the moon our 51st state.

Kennedy says the government doesn't plan to control television. He figures the viewers can do that by using the switch.

SEAT BELTS FOR ALL

The public has been notably slow to adopt the automobile seat belt, though research shows that this device can be a lifesaver. The public is not wholly to blame, however. Auto manufacturers also are responsible in part for the fact that so few seat belts are in use.

It should be said at once that these bands of webbing stretched across the midriffs of driver and passengers are no guarantee of safety. The belts could be improved, especially to reduce the danger of "jackknifing" in sudden stops. Still, research shows that wearing a seat belt may double one's chances in an accident. That makes using such a belt eminently worthwhile.

There are several reasons for public lethargy in this matter. One is that the cost of seat belt installation has seemed rather high. Happily, the cost has been going down. Another reason is that the importance of the seat belt has not been sufficiently impressed on the public. More education is needed.

More significant than either of these reasons has been the failure of the manufacturers to go ahead with installing safety belts as standard equipment. The excuses they give for not having done so are not persuasive. They equip autos with a variety of other built-in safety devices, even though some drivers might be willing to get along without them.

Legislation might be the best way to handle the matter. Brakes, windshield wipers, directional signals and other aids to safe operation are prescribed by law. Perhaps the only reasonably fast way of getting seat belts into general use would be laws requiring them as standard equipment and saying when they must be fastened.

FIRE WITH FIRE

We hear few discussions of unemployment that do not touch upon the displacing effects of automation.

Since the machine is being blamed for so much, it is perhaps fitting that efforts are now being made by which people can use the machine to get back at the machine.

U.S. Industries, Inc., has developed an automatic trainer, a device by which persons thrown out of work can learn how to master automatic machinery. For even the best of such equipment calls for controlling activity.

The U.S. Post Office Department already is using 55 trainers to retrain displaced clerks.

Obviously this approach is a far healthier counteroffensive than efforts to impede the inescapable advance of automation.

'These Days'

WHAT'S A GIRL WORTH?

I came across a circular which says: "You can rent a typist, stenographer, comptometer-operator or other office worker for a day, a week or even longer." Nothing is said about renting a wife for a short or long period! The idea is that if you rent a girl instead of hiring her, you avoid "social security expense, compensation insurance, personal absence, vacation pay, holiday pay, sick pay, state disability insurance, payroll bookkeeping expense, unemployment insurance." It seems like a good idea, except who pays for all this?

Another ad shows exactly how this scheme works:

"When you hire a typical temporary worker at $70.00 per week (35 hours at $2.00) fringe benefits bring it up to $91.95 . . . Here's how:

"$ 1.57	Social Security
1.89	State Unemployment Insurance
.21	Federal Unemployment Insurance
.09	Compensation Insurance
2.80	Vacation
1.18	Cost of Hiring Personnel
3.23	Average Sick Pay
.77	Payroll and Bookkeeping Expenses
1.35	Average Christmas Bonus
3.22	Average Holiday Pay
3.50	Average Pensions
.15	Election Day
1.44	Life Insurance, Blue Cross, etc.
.04	Severance or Termination Pay
.21	Personal Absence
.30	State Disability

$21.95 plus $70.00 .... $91.95 weekly"

The point of the matter is that there is an unbelievable shortage of competent, trained office help. Girls who are college graduates and know how to use a typewriter do not necessarily know anything about office routines nor are they necessarily intelligent outside their so-called fields of major disciplines and much depends upon what college a girl went to. An A in some colleges may not bring a C at Radcliffe or Barnard and in an office, a very personable girl may be extremely dumb. An employer keeps changing in the hopes that he will find someone as clever as the girl who married or died or went into business for herself.

The employment agencies charge the girls too much for getting jobs for them and smart ones seek other devices but no matter how it works, a girl pays through the nose for getting a job and is discontented ever after. The agencies which rent girls for temporary or permanent work do not call themselves agencies; they refer to themselves as services, but they also charge for getting jobs. The services are particularly valuable for married women who want temporary work or for over-age women who will not be accepted for permanent positions because the insurance companies object to covering them in blanket insurance policies for fringe benefits. Of course, most women can lop five or ten years off their age at little expense and if a boss will not ask for a birth certificate what difference does it make? A beautician is an industrial expense and there ought to be an income tax deduction for her services.

The boss is desperate. He must get his work done. He does not find efficient gals, so he goes to any agency or service or whatever it may be. The service gives him an advantage because he is able to employ contract labor and avoid fringe benefits. Contract labor gives him the further advantage that if a girl conks out, the contractor replaces her. In such circumstances, the intimate secretary disappears; there is a laborer who is paid by the contractor who bills the boss. There are also no lapses between one girl and another. The contractor makes service continuous. But a middle man, a padrone, has stepped into the picture.

The girl, of course, is dissatisfied, first because she knows that she is getting only a part of her wage; the rest goes to the contractor. The employer, however, is paying the full amount. Secondly, the employer cannot ever establish a confidential relationship with such a girl as I had, for instance, with a secretary who was with me nearly 20 years before she died. The contractor is the real boss and there is no telling how many girls he will provide in 20 years. Of course, some employers only use this form of contract labor for extras; but then extras have access to files, to inter-office correspondence and carbon copies and are come today, gone tomorrow.

Is contract labor of this type permissible under the law and does it violate various fringe benefit laws? The question is whether this is a tax gimmick or is it forced upon management as a measure to assure office efficiency?

The Mature Parent

Illness of Mother Shakes Base of Child's World

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

How is a child taught consideration for his parents? My sister has been quite sick with the flu. On the night she was running her highest temperature, her 4-year-old boy refused to let his father or me bring him a glass of water at bedtime and made his mother get out of bed and get it for him. He showed no interest in her illness but screamed until she gave him what he wanted . . .

ANSWER: It wasn't a glass of water that he wanted. What he screamed for was reassurance that his mother was still able to serve him.

Little children can get scary ideas about us when we are ill. Doctors are called and the house is heavy with an atmosphere of anxiety. They can conclude that we intend to abandone them, withdrawing our services from them forever. So what our relatives should say to them on these occasions is:

"Mommy is not going to leave you. She'll bring you your waterf again as soon as she feels better, but right now you'll have to put up with me."

In people of your little nephew's age "consideration" for their mothers has not been developed. Mothers still exist as part of them. As before birth, they used mother's lungs to breathe with and later used her body for food and locomotion, they continue for some time to regard her as an extension of themselves. Her legs are for running to them when they call her; her hands are for reaching up to candy jars. Like Aladdin's obedient genie, mother lives only to serve them and possesses no separate life of her own.

When she falls sick, they are frightened. To comprehend their serving giantess as vulnerable to weakness shakes the foundation of their power in the world.

Your little nephew withheld consideration from his sick mother, not out of cussedness but out of the terrifying idea that she needed it.

Once we understand this about small children, we don't get angry if they howl for service as usual when we are sick or otherwise weakened. If we need consideration, we show it to ourselves instead of expecting it from them. As they see us accepting ourselves as humans in need of consideration, they gradually outgrow their view of us as invulnerable giants of power—and can occasionally give us human consideration, too.

Protest About Route 28

Editor, The Freeman,

This letter is intended to protest the deplorable road conditions existing on Route 28 west of the Kingston interchange of the New York State Thruway. Why is this road not maintained? We realize that construction is in process but is there any reason why some of the holes are not filled?

Many cars have been damaged and weakened due to the poor road conditions. It is interesting that care was taken to caution the driver with over sixty signs but the road itself is neglected.

Who is responsible to see that conditions are remedied? We hope that some care of this road will be promptly put into effect so that further damages to our cars will be prevented.

"Everything happens to me," moaned South. "Two out of two finesses went wrong."

South had won the first trick with the ace of diamonds, led a spade to his ace and a club toward dummy. East had taken the ace and led a second trump. South finessed. West took his queen and cleared up the trump suit. Eventually South lost the heart finesse and his contract.

Actually, there were three separate and distinct ways for South to have made the hand. The first was the simple play of the king of clubs at trick two followed by the queen of clubs if the king were allowed to hold. Eventually South would discard one diamond on a club and trump a heart in dummy. Both finesses would lose, but he would be all right anyway.

The second way would be to try the heart finesse at trick two. It would lose and West would promptly set up his diamond trick, but would not be able to get into the lead in time to make it.

The third way would represent a double dummy recovery from the play that lost for him. When West led the third trump South would win, lead a club to dummy, discard a heart on the last good club and ruff dummy's deuce of clubs. West would have to let a heart go, whereupon South would play his last trump and force a diamond discard. Then South would play a diamond to dummy's king, throw West in with another diamond to force him to lead a heart.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Today is St. Patrick's Day, the anniversary of the patron saint of Ireland. This Saint was well loved everywhere and many legends have grown up in connection with his career.

One of the better known of all the legends is how he was responsible for the Shamrock becoming the familiar Irish emblem. One day a group of his followers came to him and admitted that it was difficult for them to believe in the doctrine of the Holy Trinity. Plucking a leaf from the Shamrock, St. Patrick held it before them, bidding them to behold the living example of this "three-in-one." The simple beauty of this explanation convinced them and from that day the Shamrock has been revered throughout Ireland.

In observance of St. Patrick's Day and as a salute to Ireland, green is displayed everywhere. For years in New York City, a green center stripe characterizes New York City's Fifth Avenue during the famed parade. Now at Whiteface Mountain there will be a green ski slope appropriately named Shamrock Run.

Primarily a religious holiday, special church services are held and there are numerous social functions sponsored by church groups.

St. Patrick overcame many perils of his time and made many friends. The Irish people look back to him with great affection, because his courage and cheerfulness have been handed on to so many of his followers.

A population of some 214 million is expected by 1970. If this keeps up, we may yet have to make the moon our 51st state.

Kennedy says the government doesn't plan to control television. He figures the viewers can do that by using the switch.

SEAT BELTS FOR ALL

The public has been notably slow to adopt the automobile seat belt, though research shows that this device can be a lifesaver. The public is not wholly to blame, however. Auto manufacturers also are responsible in part for the fact that so few seat belts are in use.

It should be said at once that these bands of webbing stretched across the midriffs of driver and passengers are no guarantee of safety. The belts could be improved, especially to reduce the danger of "jackknifing" in sudden stops. Still, research shows that wearing a seat belt may double one's chances in an accident. That makes using such a belt eminently worthwhile.

There are several reasons for public lethargy in this matter. One is that the cost of seat belt installation has seemed rather high. Happily, the cost has been going down. Another reason is that the importance of the seat belt has not been sufficiently impressed on the public. More education is needed.

More significant than either of these reasons has been the failure of the manufacturers to go ahead with installing safety belts as standard equipment. The excuses they give for not having done so are not persuasive. They equip autos with a variety of other built-in safety devices, even though some drivers might be willing to get along without them.

Legislation might be the best way to handle the matter. Brakes, windshield wipers, directional signals and other aids to safe operation are prescribed by law. Perhaps the only reasonably fast way of getting seat belts into general use would be laws requiring them as standard equipment and saying when they must be fastened.

FIRE WITH FIRE

We hear few discussions of unemployment that do not touch upon the displacing effects of automation.

Since the machine is being blamed for so much, it is perhaps fitting that efforts are now being made by which people can use the machine to get back at the machine.

U.S. Industries, Inc., has developed an automatic trainer, a device by which persons thrown out of work can learn how to master automatic machinery. For even the best of such equipment calls for controlling activity.

The U.S. Post Office Department already is using 55 trainers to retrain displaced clerks.

Obviously this approach is a far healthier counteroffensive than efforts to impede the inescapable advance of automation.

'These Days'

WHAT'S A GIRL WORTH?

I came across a circular which says: "You can rent a typist, stenographer, comptometer-operator or other office worker for a day, a week or even longer." Nothing is said about renting a wife for a short or long period! The idea is that if you rent a girl instead of hiring her, you avoid "social security expense, compensation insurance, personal absence, vacation pay, holiday pay, sick pay, state disability insurance, payroll bookkeeping expense, unemployment insurance." It seems like a good idea, except who pays for all this?

Another ad shows exactly how this scheme works:

"When you hire a typical temporary worker at $70.00 per week (35 hours at $2.00) fringe benefits bring it up to $91.95 . . . Here's how:

"$ 1.57	Social Security
1.89	State Unemployment Insurance
.21	Federal Unemployment Insurance
.09	Compensation Insurance
2.80	Vacation
1.18	Cost of Hiring Personnel
3.23	Average Sick Pay
.77	Payroll and Bookkeeping Expenses
1.35	Average Christmas Bonus
3.22	Average Holiday Pay
3.50	Average Pensions
.15	Election Day
1.44	Life Insurance, Blue Cross, etc.
.04	Severance or Termination Pay
.21	Personal Absence
.30	State Disability

$21.95 plus $70.00 .... $91.95 weekly"

The point of the matter is that there is an unbelievable shortage of competent, trained office help. Girls who are college graduates and know how to use a typewriter do not necessarily know anything about office routines nor are they necessarily intelligent outside their so-called fields of major disciplines and much depends upon what college a girl went to. An A in some colleges may not bring a C at Radcliffe or Barnard and in an office, a very personable girl may be extremely dumb. An employer keeps changing in the hopes that he will find someone as clever as the girl who married or died or went into business for herself.

The employment agencies charge the girls too much for getting jobs for them and smart ones seek other devices but no matter how it works, a girl pays through the nose for getting a job and is discontented ever after. The agencies which rent girls for temporary or permanent work do not call themselves agencies; they refer to themselves as services, but they also charge for getting jobs. The services are particularly valuable for married women who want temporary work or for over-age women who will not be accepted for permanent positions because the insurance companies object to covering them in blanket insurance policies for fringe benefits. Of course, most women can lop five or ten years off their age at little expense and if a boss will not ask for a birth certificate what difference does it make? A beautician is an industrial expense and there ought to be an income tax deduction for her services.

The boss is desperate. He must get his work done. He does not find efficient gals, so he goes to any agency or service or whatever it may be. The service gives him an advantage because he is able to employ contract labor and avoid fringe benefits. Contract labor gives him the further advantage that if a girl conks out, the contractor replaces her. In such circumstances, the intimate secretary disappears; there is a laborer who is paid by the contractor who bills the boss. There are also no lapses between one girl and another. The contractor makes service continuous. But a middle man, a padrone, has stepped into the picture.

The girl, of course, is dissatisfied, first because she knows that she is getting only a part of her wage; the rest goes to the contractor. The employer, however, is paying the full amount. Secondly, the employer cannot ever establish a confidential relationship with such a girl as I had, for instance, with a secretary who was with me nearly 20 years before she died. The contractor is the real boss and there is no telling how many girls he will provide in 20 years. Of course, some employers only use this form of contract labor for extras; but then extras have access to files, to inter-office correspondence and carbon copies and are come today, gone tomorrow.

Is contract labor of this type permissible under the law and does it violate various fringe benefit laws? The question is whether this is a tax gimmick or is it forced upon management as a measure to assure office efficiency?

Protest About Route 28

Editor, The Freeman,

This letter is intended to protest the deplorable road conditions existing on Route 28 west of the Kingston interchange of the New York State Thruway. Why is this road not maintained? We realize that construction is in process but is there any reason why some of the holes are not filled?

Many cars have been damaged and weakened due to the poor road conditions. It is interesting that care was taken to caution the driver with over sixty signs but the road itself is neglected.

Who is responsible to see that conditions are remedied? We hope that some care of this road will be promptly put into effect so that further damages to our cars will be prevented.

"Everything happens to me," moaned South. "Two out of two finesses went wrong."

South had won the first trick with the ace of diamonds, led a spade to his ace and a club toward dummy. East had taken the ace and led a second trump. South finessed. West took his queen and cleared up the trump suit. Eventually South lost the heart finesse and his contract.

Actually, there were three separate and distinct ways for South to have made the hand. The first was the simple play of the king of clubs at trick two followed by the queen of clubs if the king were allowed to hold. Eventually South would discard one diamond on a club and trump a heart in dummy. Both finesses would lose, but he would be all right anyway.

The second way would be to try the heart finesse at trick two. It would lose and West would promptly set up his diamond trick, but would not be able to get into the lead in time to make it.

The third way would represent a double dummy recovery from the play that lost for him. When West led the third trump South would win, lead a club to dummy, discard a heart on the last good club and ruff dummy's deuce of clubs. West would have to let a heart go, whereupon South would play his last trump and force a diamond discard. Then South would play a diamond to dummy's king, throw West in with another diamond to force him to lead a heart.

was temporarily without a medical director.

Dr. Jason Moyer was granted a two-week leave of absence Friday because of high blood pressure. Moyer has no assistant and no acting medical director was named.

The Welfare Department, which has jurisdiction over general management of hospitals in the state, made no judgment of the conduct of the hospital.

In its preliminary report Friday, the Welfare Department issued these directives:

1. All products used in the nursery formula room are to be stored intact, not transferred from stock.

2. Whenever any "unusual incident" occurs at the hospital, an investigation is to be instituted immediately. "This should be a matter of hospital policy," the department said.

3. "A well-qualified maternity supervisor" should be appointed and supervisory nurses appointed for the new-born nursery and maternity divisions.

The health department, which supervises only nurseries in hospitals, sent a team of experts to investigate the deaths.

Nursery Gets 'Clean Bill'

Hilleboe, at a news conference, termed the salt-poisoning report preliminary, pending microscopic examination of some organs of the dead babies. But he said he did not believe the examinations would show any other cause of death.

Binghamton General's nursery received a "clean bill of health" in an annual inspection last June, the commissioner said, and no violation of the sanitary code was discovered in the investigation of the deaths.

He said a check of the records of 30 babies at the hospital prior to the outbreak of salt poisoning disclosed no trouble.

was invulnerable to antimissile weapons.

The United States is working on several approaches to the missile-killing problem. The most advanced of these is the Army's Nike-Zeus—but Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says there are serious weaknesses in the system.

Nonetheless, McNamara said recently the Russians do not have an antimissile system even as advanced as the Nike-Zeus.

Marriage Ends In 10 Minutes

RENO, Nev. (AP)—The 31-year marriage of the Nelson Rockefellers dissolved here in less than 10 minutes.

Mrs. Rockefeller was granted the divorce from the New York governor Friday on the grounds of mental cruelty.

She returned by plane to Philadelphia immediately after the early morning court appearance. Her two brothers, John and Percy Clark, met her. No one would comment.

A witness at the closed hearing before District Court Judge Grant Bowen said, "Mary Rockefeller must have aged 10 years between 9 and 10 o'clock." The actual legal proceedings—a few questions by the judge and a few answers by the plaintiff—took less than 10 minutes.

U.S. Facing

face a major challenge in winning acceptance of the American test policy.

Brazilian delegates said they believed that Russia and the United States could agree on a suspension of nuclear tests in the air, probably before the United States started its new series.

The Brazilian stand is closer to the Soviet Union's than to that of the United States. Since the Russians fired a series of about 50 test explosions in the air last fall, the immediate problem is one for Washington rather than Moscow.

Only a basic change of policy by President Kennedy would permit U.S. agreement to the suspension called for in the Brazilian proposition.

Since the President has in fact already ruled out such a suspension, the practical problem for him and Secretary of State Rusk appears to be to convince the middle bloc countries that Western security requires further development of U.S. nuclear weapons to offset gains achieved by the Soviet Union last fall.

The conference was in recess for the weekend after three sessions beginning with a ceremonial opening Wednesday.

Tax Agents Hit 48 U.S. Cities In Raids Friday

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Syracuse and Geneva were among the 48 cities that were targets of simultaneous gambling raids by federal tax agents.

Three men were arrested in Syracuse on charges of failing to buy $50 federal gambling stamps, and two were arrested in Geneva on the same charges.

The federal agents reported they seized $850 in raids on two places in Geneva.

Arrested in Geneva were Rome Liberio and Henry Smaldone, both of Geneva.

Arrested in Syracuse were Sam Charles of Syracuse, Peter Vinciquerra of Liverpool and his brother, Joseph Vinciquerra of Syracuse.

The raids Friday were conducted by special agents of the Internal Revenue Service Intelligence Division.

The crackdown was the seventh such on a nationwide scale in the last two years.

Cancer Cure

being charged into tumors in a new technique which was described at the meeting by Dr. John Mallams of Baylor University Medical Center, Dallas, Texas.

Mallams, a radiotherapist said the process is used on patients with cancer in parts of the body where surgery is difficult or imposible, such as the head, neck, liver and bladder.

The treatment applied on 22 patients for the past four months was reported encouraging. Mallams said, however, the treatment was not available to most hospitals. A joint study of the new method is being conducted by 12 hospitals including Sloan-Kettering Institute in New York City, he said.

Research in which damaged human blood cells are changed to normal healthy cells was reported by Dr. Austin Weisberger of Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio.

Dr. Weisberger told the conference he used hemoglobin from the bone marow of patients suffering from a fatal disease called sickle cell anemia. The inherited disease gradually breaks down the human system because the malformed hemoglobin cannot carry life-giving oxygen.

He said the research consisted of mixing the diseased hemoglobin with nucleic acids and proteins from healthy human bone marrow cells and producing a cell that was healthy and could carry oxygen.

Dr. Weisberger said the discovery may lead to the development and treatment of blood cancer, leukemia.

Dr. Hubert Loring of Stanford University reported on an experiment which tears disease-causing viruses apart molecule by molecule and reassembling the parts into viruses that are identical but not harmful.

He said researchers may in the future dismantle an illness-producing virus, identify the diseased portion, replace it with a neutral molecule and produce a disease-free virus.

Research Cost, $97,000,000

The American Cancer Society through the national office and divisions, has to date devoted more than $97,000,000 to cancer research since its support program began in 1945.

The society in 1962 is helping to support research of about 1,300 key investigators working in American hospitals, universities and other institutions, plus thousands more of young men and women serving as technicians or being trained for larger responsibilities.

The society allocates 34 per cent of every dollar received in contributions toward research programs and grants.

Irish Thrush Keeps Affections

Carmel Quinn Won't Knock Leprechauns

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Like other expatriates from Ireland, Carmel Quinn expends a great deal of energy paying tribute to St. Patrick.

In television appearances and concerts around the country, she sings only Irish songs, authentic or Tin Pan Alley. She doesn't quibble as long as people like to hear them. And they do—at Chicago's Opera House, Boston's Donnelly Memorial Theater, New York's Carnegie Hall, a stag congressional party in Washington attended by the President.

Here Since 1954

In her Dublin accent, Carmel says: "I've noticed people are sentimental about the Irish. There are lots of German people, for example, at my shows. And they love the Irish songs. People will smile when they hear you're Irish. But it's not in an unfriendly fashion—it's good humored."

Carmel, who came to this country eight years ago, has kept her affection for the fairies and little people of Ireland. "I wouldn't like to say I didn't believe in them," she puts it cannily. "You never disturb where you know they live. A fairy ring, you know, is a beautiful circle of trees; a farmer would never think of plowing it up."

She goes home every year to Dublin to see her sister and two brothers. "I'm the only one of my family who traveled. They all sing well, but they didn't want to sing professionally as I did. I never had any voice training and it's too late now, the harm's done."

Singing Her Real Love

She quit school at 16, took odd singing jobs and in between she sold shoes, waited tables, was a cashier. "But anything except singing was sheer agony," she recalls.

Eventually she married Bill Fuller, a ballroom operator for whom she worked. He now owns Irish-American ballrooms in Chicago, Boston and New York.

During the year when Carmel is not singing at posh nightclubs, she's being very domestic in a red-brick, green-roofed house in Leonia, N.J., a 30-minute drive from New York. She and Bill—they call each other mammy and daddy—have three little leprechauns at home, Jane, 7, Michael, 5, Terry, (a girl) 3.

in Damascus that only one Syrian was killed and five wounded in the battle along the tense frontier. He claimed the Israelis suffered greater losses, adding that they lost four tanks and eight other vehicles.

"Five buses and five ambulances were seen carrying Israeli casualties from the battlefield," the Arab spokesman said.

Backed by Bombers

He labeled the clash an Israeli aggression against Syrian outposts on the eastern shore.

The Israeli spokesman said the attack was supported by bombers that struck at Syrian troops dug in north of the Israeli settlement of Nukev.

The Syrians replied with a heavy artillery barrage on the Jewish collective settlement of Ein Gev south of Nukev.

The Israeli planes struck, the spokesman said, only after the Syrians had ignored a U.N. observer's cease-fire order and Syrian aircraft had penetrated Israeli air space over the Jordan Valley. He also accused the Syrians of attacks on Israeli fishermen.

Claims Violation

A Syrian army spokesman said in Damascus that Syrian troops had battled two Israeli gunboats on the Sea of Galilee for two straight days. He claimed that the Israeli boats had violated the demilitarized water zone on Galilee.

The Israeli spokesman said that Syrians have been interfering for the past 10 years with Israeli fishing on the Sea of Galilee, which is within Israeli territory.

The last serious outbreak was two years ago when an Israeli unit destroyed Syrian positions around Tufik village after charging that Israeli workers in the Telkazir area had been attacked.

was temporarily without a medical director.

Dr. Jason Moyer was granted a two-week leave of absence Friday because of high blood pressure. Moyer has no assistant and no acting medical director was named.

The Welfare Department, which has jurisdiction over general management of hospitals in the state, made no judgment of the conduct of the hospital.

In its preliminary report Friday, the Welfare Department issued these directives:

1. All products used in the nursery formula room are to be stored intact, not transferred from stock.

2. Whenever any "unusual incident" occurs at the hospital, an investigation is to be instituted immediately. "This should be a matter of hospital policy," the department said.

3. "A well-qualified maternity supervisor" should be appointed and supervisory nurses appointed for the new-born nursery and maternity divisions.

The health department, which supervises only nurseries in hospitals, sent a team of experts to investigate the deaths.

Nursery Gets 'Clean Bill'

Hilleboe, at a news conference, termed the salt-poisoning report preliminary, pending microscopic examination of some organs of the dead babies. But he said he did not believe the examinations would show any other cause of death.

Binghamton General's nursery received a "clean bill of health" in an annual inspection last June, the commissioner said, and no violation of the sanitary code was discovered in the investigation of the deaths.

He said a check of the records of 30 babies at the hospital prior to the outbreak of salt poisoning disclosed no trouble.

K's Threat

was invulnerable to antimissile weapons.

The United States is working on several approaches to the missile-killing problem. The most advanced of these is the Army's Nike-Zeus—but Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says there are serious weaknesses in the system.

Nonetheless, McNamara said recently the Russians do not have an antimissile system even as advanced as the Nike-Zeus.

Marriage Ends In 10 Minutes

RENO, Nev. (AP)—The 31-year marriage of the Nelson Rockefellers dissolved here in less than 10 minutes.

Mrs. Rockefeller was granted the divorce from the New York governor Friday on the grounds of mental cruelty.

She returned by plane to Philadelphia immediately after the early morning court appearance. Her two brothers, John and Percy Clark, met her. No one would comment.

A witness at the closed hearing before District Court Judge Grant Bowen said, "Mary Rockefeller must have aged 10 years between 9 and 10 o'clock." The actual legal proceedings—a few questions by the judge and a few answers by the plaintiff—took less than 10 minutes.

U.S. Facing

face a major challenge in winning acceptance of the American test policy.

Brazilian delegates said they believed that Russia and the United States could agree on a suspension of nuclear tests in the air, probably before the United States started its new series.

The Brazilian stand is closer to the Soviet Union's than to that of the United States. Since the Russians fired a series of about 50 test explosions in the air last fall, the immediate problem is one for Washington rather than Moscow.

Only a basic change of policy by President Kennedy would permit U.S. agreement to the suspension called for in the Brazilian proposition.

Since the President has in fact already ruled out such a suspension, the practical problem for him and Secretary of State Rusk appears to be to convince the middle bloc countries that Western security requires further development of U.S. nuclear weapons to offset gains achieved by the Soviet Union last fall.

The conference was in recess for the weekend after three sessions beginning with a ceremonial opening Wednesday.

Tax Agents Hit 48 U.S. Cities In Raids Friday

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Syracuse and Geneva were among the 48 cities that were targets of simultaneous gambling raids by federal tax agents.

Three men were arrested in Syracuse on charges of failing to buy $50 federal gambling stamps, and two were arrested in Geneva on the same charges.

The federal agents reported they seized $850 in raids on two places in Geneva.

Arrested in Geneva were Rome Liberio and Henry Smaldone, both of Geneva.

Arrested in Syracuse were Sam Charles of Syracuse, Peter Vinciquerra of Liverpool and his brother, Joseph Vinciquerra of Syracuse.

The raids Friday were conducted by special agents of the Internal Revenue Service Intelligence Division.

The crackdown was the seventh such on a nationwide scale in the last two years.

Cancer Cure

being charged into tumors in a new technique which was described at the meeting by Dr. John Mallams of Baylor University Medical Center, Dallas, Texas.

Mallams, a radiotherapist said the process is used on patients with cancer in parts of the body where surgery is difficult or imposible, such as the head, neck, liver and bladder.

The treatment applied on 22 patients for the past four months was reported encouraging. Mallams said, however, the treatment was not available to most hospitals. A joint study of the new method is being conducted by 12 hospitals including Sloan-Kettering Institute in New York City, he said.

Research in which damaged human blood cells are changed to normal healthy cells was reported by Dr. Austin Weisberger of Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio.

Dr. Weisberger told the conference he used hemoglobin from the bone marow of patients suffering from a fatal disease called sickle cell anemia. The inherited disease gradually breaks down the human system because the malformed hemoglobin cannot carry life-giving oxygen.

He said the research consisted of mixing the diseased hemoglobin with nucleic acids and proteins from healthy human bone marrow cells and producing a cell that was healthy and could carry oxygen.

Dr. Weisberger said the discovery may lead to the development and treatment of blood cancer, leukemia.

Dr. Hubert Loring of Stanford University reported on an experiment which tears disease-causing viruses apart molecule by molecule and reassembling the parts into viruses that are identical but not harmful.

He said researchers may in the future dismantle an illness-producing virus, identify the diseased portion, replace it with a neutral molecule and produce a disease-free virus.

Research Cost, $97,000,000

The American Cancer Society through the national office and divisions, has to date devoted more than $97,000,000 to cancer research since its support program began in 1945.

The society in 1962 is helping to support research of about 1,300 key investigators working in American hospitals, universities and other institutions, plus thousands more of young men and women serving as technicians or being trained for larger responsibilities.

The society allocates 34 per cent of every dollar received in contributions toward research programs and grants.

Irish Thrush Keeps Affections

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Like other expatriates from Ireland, Carmel Quinn expends a great deal of energy paying tribute to St. Patrick.

In television appearances and concerts around the country, she sings only Irish songs, authentic or Tin Pan Alley. She doesn't quibble as long as people like to hear them. And they do—at Chicago's Opera House, Boston's Donnelly Memorial Theater, New York's Carnegie Hall, a stag congressional party in Washington attended by the President.

Here Since 1954

In her Dublin accent, Carmel says: "I've noticed people are sentimental about the Irish. There are lots of German people, for example, at my shows. And they love the Irish songs. People will smile when they hear you're Irish. But it's not in an unfriendly fashion—it's good humored."

Carmel, who came to this country eight years ago, has kept her affection for the fairies and little people of Ireland. "I wouldn't like to say I didn't believe in them," she puts it cannily. "You never disturb where you know they live. A fairy ring, you know, is a beautiful circle of trees; a farmer would never think of plowing it up."

She goes home every year to Dublin to see her sister and two brothers. "I'm the only one of my family who traveled. They all sing well, but they didn't want to sing professionally as I did. I never had any voice training and it's too late now, the harm's done."

Singing Her Real Love

She quit school at 16, took odd singing jobs and in between she sold shoes, waited tables, was a cashier. "But anything except singing was sheer agony," she recalls.

Eventually she married Bill Fuller, a ballroom operator for whom she worked. He now owns Irish-American ballrooms in Chicago, Boston and New York.

During the year when Carmel is not singing at posh nightclubs, she's being very domestic in a red-brick, green-roofed house in Leonia, N.J., a 30-minute drive from New York. She and Bill—they call each other mammy and daddy—have three little leprechauns at home, Jane, 7, Michael, 5, Terry, (a girl) 3.

Both Claim

in Damascus that only one Syrian was killed and five wounded in the battle along the tense frontier. He claimed the Israelis suffered greater losses, adding that they lost four tanks and eight other vehicles.

"Five buses and five ambulances were seen carrying Israeli casualties from the battlefield," the Arab spokesman said.

Backed by Bombers

He labeled the clash an Israeli aggression against Syrian outposts on the eastern shore.

The Israeli spokesman said the attack was supported by bombers that struck at Syrian troops dug in north of the Israeli settlement of Nukev.

The Syrians replied with a heavy artillery barrage on the Jewish collective settlement of Ein Gev south of Nukev.

The Israeli planes struck, the spokesman said, only after the Syrians had ignored a U.N. observer's cease-fire order and Syrian aircraft had penetrated Israeli air space over the Jordan Valley. He also accused the Syrians of attacks on Israeli fishermen.

Claims Violation

A Syrian army spokesman said in Damascus that Syrian troops had battled two Israeli gunboats on the Sea of Galilee for two straight days. He claimed that the Israeli boats had violated the demilitarized water zone on Galilee.

The Israeli spokesman said that Syrians have been interfering for the past 10 years with Israeli fishing on the Sea of Galilee, which is within Israeli territory.

The last serious outbreak was two years ago when an Israeli unit destroyed Syrian positions around Tufik village after charging that Israeli workers in the Telkazir area had been attacked.

TAKING HOME SERVED CAKE

Q: My sister and I play cards once a week with four other young women. Last night we met at one of the member's houses and after we finished playing cards, she served delicious homemade cheese cake. This is a specialty of hers. As my stomach felt queasy all that day I did not want to risk eating anything rich. I explained this to my hostess and told her that I would take my piece home with me and eat it the following day. When we left my sister criticized me for doing this and said that I showed very bad manners. I see nothing wrong in what I did and think she is making a fuss over nothing. What do you think about this?

A: If the hostess was someone you know well, it would have been all right to have asked her if she minded your taking a piece of her delicious cheese cake home. But to make a statement that you were taking a piece home was not very polite.

Q: I would like to give a shower for a friend of mine, but instead of having all women as is customary, I would like to have a mixed group. Most of her friends are either married or engaged and I thought it would make for a much pleasanter evening if the husbands and fiances were invited. Will you please tell me if this will be proper?

A: Usually when men are to be included they are asked to come in after the bride has opened her presents. However, if it is a household shower and not a personal one, there would be no objection to asking the men to the shower itself.

Q: When the ushers and best man come from out of town I know it is the responsibility of the bridegroom to pay for their hotel lodging, but is it his responsibility to pay for any meals that they may have at the hotel, or do they pay for these themselves?

A: It would be thoughtful of the ushers and best man to pay in cash for any meals they may have at the hotel, but if they sign for them and they are put on the hotel bill, the bridegroom pays for them.

Patty Duke Excels In Children Isle

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP)—With "Isle of Children," Broadway continues its sudden interest in the dramatic possibilities of dire disease.

A youngster is under the doom of incurable heart ailment in the play that opened Friday night at the Cort Theater. Just a fortnight ago, the morbid movement began with "A Gift of Time," in which cancer is the grim specter.

The purpose of both is approximately the same — to awaken spectators to fuller appreciation of existence. In the new Cort tenant, a further factor is the stricken child's fear of being forgotten.

In the part, Patty Duke—child star a few seasons ago of "The Miracle Worker"—wins new acting laurels at age 15 with an enthralling display of emotional versatility.

The plot and dialogue which surround her are far less admirable. The story by Robert L. Joseph strays back and forth between soap opera and imperfect fantasy.

Clarity is not enhanced by the strangely remote direction provided by Jules Dassin, the creator of such renowned films as "Rififi" and "Never on Sunday."

As the parents, Noel Willman and Norma Creane seem best in separate scenes with the ailing child. In the cross-play of marital discord—never entirely explained—their behavior turns awkward.

In other principal roles, Louise Latham has moments of fervent warmth as a teacher seeking to rouse Patty to religious faith; and young James Aubrey brings off a couple of scenes with adolescent hilarity.

The setting, by Howard Bay, is a cross-section of New York residential comfort. Incidental music by Victor Ziskin tinkles most pleasantly. "Isle of Children" remains, however, a most intermittent affair.

TAKING HOME SERVED CAKE

Q: My sister and I play cards once a week with four other young women. Last night we met at one of the member's houses and after we finished playing cards, she served delicious homemade cheese cake. This is a specialty of hers. As my stomach felt queasy all that day I did not want to risk eating anything rich. I explained this to my hostess and told her that I would take my piece home with me and eat it the following day. When we left my sister criticized me for doing this and said that I showed very bad manners. I see nothing wrong in what I did and think she is making a fuss over nothing. What do you think about this?

A: If the hostess was someone you know well, it would have been all right to have asked her if she minded your taking a piece of her delicious cheese cake home. But to make a statement that you were taking a piece home was not very polite.

Q: I would like to give a shower for a friend of mine, but instead of having all women as is customary, I would like to have a mixed group. Most of her friends are either married or engaged and I thought it would make for a much pleasanter evening if the husbands and fiances were invited. Will you please tell me if this will be proper?

A: Usually when men are to be included they are asked to come in after the bride has opened her presents. However, if it is a household shower and not a personal one, there would be no objection to asking the men to the shower itself.

Q: When the ushers and best man come from out of town I know it is the responsibility of the bridegroom to pay for their hotel lodging, but is it his responsibility to pay for any meals that they may have at the hotel, or do they pay for these themselves?

A: It would be thoughtful of the ushers and best man to pay in cash for any meals they may have at the hotel, but if they sign for them and they are put on the hotel bill, the bridegroom pays for them.

Patty Duke Excels In Children Isle

By WILLIAM GLOVER

Associated Press Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP)—With "Isle of Children," Broadway continues its sudden interest in the dramatic possibilities of dire disease.

A youngster is under the doom of incurable heart ailment in the play that opened Friday night at the Cort Theater. Just a fortnight ago, the morbid movement began with "A Gift of Time," in which cancer is the grim specter.

The purpose of both is approximately the same — to awaken spectators to fuller appreciation of existence. In the new Cort tenant, a further factor is the stricken child's fear of being forgotten.

In the part, Patty Duke—child star a few seasons ago of "The Miracle Worker"—wins new acting laurels at age 15 with an enthralling display of emotional versatility.

The plot and dialogue which surround her are far less admirable. The story by Robert L. Joseph strays back and forth between soap opera and imperfect fantasy.

Clarity is not enhanced by the strangely remote direction provided by Jules Dassin, the creator of such renowned films as "Rififi" and "Never on Sunday."

As the parents, Noel Willman and Norma Creane seem best in separate scenes with the ailing child. In the cross-play of marital discord—never entirely explained—their behavior turns awkward.

In other principal roles, Louise Latham has moments of fervent warmth as a teacher seeking to rouse Patty to religious faith; and young James Aubrey brings off a couple of scenes with adolescent hilarity.

The setting, by Howard Bay, is a cross-section of New York residential comfort. Incidental music by Victor Ziskin tinkles most pleasantly. "Isle of Children" remains, however, a most intermittent affair.

One of the large elm trees in front of the city hall was removed this week by Arborial Associates of Andrew Street. The Cherry trees were purchased from the Princeton Nursery, Princeton, N. J.

Replacing TV's 'Mr. Wilson' Is Easy for Gordon

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There's a new Mr. Wilson next door to Dennis the Menace.

He may be a new neighbor to Dennis, but he's an old friend to any television watcher. Replacing the late Joseph Kearns on the Sunday night CBS show is Gale Gordon, the apex of apoplexy.

A TV Institution

Gordon's fits of frustration and temper have become a television institution, along with Perry Como's letters and Chester's limp.

So accomplished is Gordon's art that he has appeared regularly on more television series than any other performer—by far. He was Eve Arden's irascible principal in 130 outings of "Our Miss Brooks." He has had running roles in "My Favorite Husband," the Danny Thomas show, Jack Benny's show and "Pete and Gladys."

He even had his own series, "The Brothers," with Bob Sweeney. It had loyal fans but was killed after 26 outings—by network politics, says Gordon.

When Joe Kearns died, the producers of "Dennis the Menace" said, "Get Gordon."

"I've already done two with Dennis," said Gordon, who showed up for lunch with a make-up black eye.

Not Tired of Roles

"I'll do six more to finish out this season. After that, I don't know. I'm committed to Tony Owens for a pilot I did with Roberta Sherwood and her three sons—it will be shown on the Donna Reed show. If it sells, and Tony thinks it will, then I'll be doing that one. If not, I could return to Dennis. Either way, I'd be happy; they're both delightful shows."

Gordon will be introduced as the brother of Mr. Wilson, who has gone away for a while.

Admittedly the role comes easy to him. He has been playing explosive windbags ever since he stumbled on the characterization on the old Fibber McGee and Molly radio show.

Does he ever tire of playing what he calls "stuffy blowhards"?

"Not as long as they keep paying me," he said.

True muffins do not resemble cake! They should have an even but coarse texture and an only slightly sweet flavor.

Conservationist Gives Comments On Area Wildlife

Ulster County has an overabundance of areas that could be developed into wildlife preserve. These areas eventually could be used for hunting, says Fred Wagner, noted area conservationist, in commenting on National Wildlife Week objectives.

The Ashokan Reservoir itself is one of them. It might sound far fetched or impossible, but it is entirely possible, with the help of the sportsmen, Conservation Department and the New York City water supply.

Numerous water fowl winter on the Ashokan Reservoir, with their feeding areas in the low lands and numerous streams around the county. Around the Ashokan Reservoir lie swamp land and pot holes that have never been developed, waiting for a helping hand to help in the survival of our all important wildlife and water fowl.

There are too many of us that want to reap the harvest and too few to sow the grain.

Every gun club in Ulster County and also surrounding counties should all have a wildlife and water fowl committee existing and making progress towards tomorrow and our coming generations, to give them some of the adventures we have all experienced.

The Esopus, the Rondout, Plattekill, Sawkill and Walkill are all water fowl areas which have never been developed, even the least bit, yet how many sportsmen use them and in all probability complain about them.

The Federal Wildlife Association will lend a hand with know how and I am sure the New York State Conservation Department will also. Numerous pamphlets are always available.

Local Boy Scouts and sportsmen can also get committees to build duck boxes and nesting cans to be erected on their wet lands. Holding and so called multi purpose dams can be stressed for future wet lands and also for the all important water resource development we need now.

$16,000 Is Taken By Gunman From Firm Messenger

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A gunman took an envelope containing more than $16,000 in cash and checks from an insurance company messenger Friday after threatening to kill her.

"He ordered me to hand over the envelope or he would kill me," said Loretta Blankenberg, an employe of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's South Park office.

She said the holdup man, armed with what looked like a nickel-plated revolver, took the envelope in the parking lot of a bank to which she was taking the cash and checks to be deposited. He apparently fled with another man in a car, she told police.

The envelope contained $8,350 in cash and $7,867 in insurance checks.

Scranton for Changes

MANSFIELD, Pa. (AP) — U.S. Rep. William W. Scranton, Republican organization choice for governor, foreseeds a definite need for changes in Pennsylvania's controversial school district reorganization law.

"Right now there are just too many unanswered questions on how to implement mandatory reorganization," the 44-year-old lawmaker declared Friday night before a cheering crowd of 400 at Mansfield State College. "I believe the act will have to be clarified to allow more local control in the school districts," he added.

AFM President Is Coming for 60th Year of Local 215

HERMAN D. KENIN

The president of the American Federation of Musicians will help Local 215 of Kingston celebrate its 60th anniversary at the annual banquet Sunday, it was announced today.

Herman D. Kenin, an attorney and musician, will be present for the event at Tropical Inn, Port Ewen, who said reservations have gone over the 350 mark, starting time is 4 p. m.

"We are proud to be able to entertain President Kenin," he said, "and George Clancy, AFM treasurer, who is to accompany him."

Here Two Years Ago

The two national officers were guests at the 1960 banquet with their wives, and enjoyed their visit to Kingston.

Kenin was elected to his present post in June 1958 to succeed James C. Petrillo.

Born in New Jersey in 1902, he grew up in Portland, Ore., where he attended Reed College. In 1930, following three years as a night student at Northwestern College of Law, Kenin was admitted to the Oregon Bar.

During his college and law school days, he played as a violinist with the George Olsen Orchestra and then with his own band.

Popular on Coast

The Kenin band was widely known up and down the west coast and as a unit that played on cruises.

Although he finally settled down to general law practice, his musical interests led him to keep his membership in Portland's Local 99, AFM.

In 1943, Petrillo called Kenin to New York to ask him to join the Musicians' Executive Board, give up his law practice and make a career with the union. He did. When he left the presidency of Local 99 in 1956, he had completed 20 years in the post.

During that period the membership increased from 500 to 1,300. He declined renomination in order to become AFM's first west coast representative.

Elected Unanimously

Kenin's election to succeed Petrillo as international president of the federation was by unanimous action of the union's 1958 convention. He has continued in the post since.

Kenin is a vice president seated on the American Federation of Labor executive board.

Kenin is proud of Local 215 started here in 1902 by 13 charter members. There are more than 285 now and the organization has its own union hall at 508 Albany Avenue that can accommodate 250.

Officers are John Cole, president; Salvatore Castiglione, vice president; William Steuding, treasurer and Michael Marchuk, executive secretary.

Active Civically

Local 215 has a program sponsored through the transcription fund of the AFM that brings musical treats to hospitals and to other groups where live music helps bring comfort and enjoyment.

The local also offers a scholarship here to youngsters interested in a summer course in music at Michigan State University.

Teenagers in Mishap Released From Hospital

Joan Bonse, 15, of 52 St. James Street, who was reported in satisfactory condition when admitted has since been released. Her brother, Augustus, 17, of the same address was released shortly after the mishap.

The driver of the car, Mrs. Linda Ocoback, 17, of Port Ewen was issued a summons by Troopers David Wachtel and Donald Cole, to answer a charge of being an unlicensed operator before Justice of the Peace Robert E. Ferrigan, Town of Kingston, today.

The mishap occurred about 10 p. m.

Replacing TV's 'Mr. Wilson' Is Easy for Gordon

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There's a new Mr. Wilson next door to Dennis the Menace.

He may be a new neighbor to Dennis, but he's an old friend to any television watcher. Replacing the late Joseph Kearns on the Sunday night CBS show is Gale Gordon, the apex of apoplexy.

A TV Institution

Gordon's fits of frustration and temper have become a television institution, along with Perry Como's letters and Chester's limp.

So accomplished is Gordon's art that he has appeared regularly on more television series than any other performer—by far. He was Eve Arden's irascible principal in 130 outings of "Our Miss Brooks." He has had running roles in "My Favorite Husband," the Danny Thomas show, Jack Benny's show and "Pete and Gladys."

He even had his own series, "The Brothers," with Bob Sweeney. It had loyal fans but was killed after 26 outings—by network politics, says Gordon.

When Joe Kearns died, the producers of "Dennis the Menace" said, "Get Gordon."

"I've already done two with Dennis," said Gordon, who showed up for lunch with a make-up black eye.

Not Tired of Roles

"I'll do six more to finish out this season. After that, I don't know. I'm committed to Tony Owens for a pilot I did with Roberta Sherwood and her three sons—it will be shown on the Donna Reed show. If it sells, and Tony thinks it will, then I'll be doing that one. If not, I could return to Dennis. Either way, I'd be happy; they're both delightful shows."

Gordon will be introduced as the brother of Mr. Wilson, who has gone away for a while.

Admittedly the role comes easy to him. He has been playing explosive windbags ever since he stumbled on the characterization on the old Fibber McGee and Molly radio show.

Does he ever tire of playing what he calls "stuffy blowhards"?

"Not as long as they keep paying me," he said.

True muffins do not resemble cake! They should have an even but coarse texture and an only slightly sweet flavor.

Conservationist Gives Comments On Area Wildlife

Ulster County has an over-abundance of areas that could be developed into wildlife preserve. These areas eventually could be used for hunting, says Fred Wagner, noted area conservationist, in commenting on National Wildlife Week objectives.

The Ashokan Reservoir itself is one of them. It might sound far fetched or impossible, but it is entirely possible, with the help of the sportsmen, Conservation Department and the New York City water supply.

Numerous water fowl winter on the Ashokan Reservoir, with their feeding areas in the low lands and numerous streams around the county. Around the Ashokan Reservoir lie swamp land and pot holes that have never been developed, waiting for a helping hand to help in the survival of our all important wildlife and water fowl.

There are too many of us that want to reap the harvest and too few to sow the grain.

Every gun club in Ulster County and also surrounding counties should all have a wildlife and water fowl committee existing and making progress towards tomorrow and our coming generations, to give them some of the adventures we have all experienced.

The Esopus, the Rondout, Plattekill, Sawkill and Walkill are all water fowl areas which have never been developed, even the least bit, yet how many sportsmen use them and in all probability complain about them.

The Federal Wildlife Association will lend a hand with know how and I am sure the New York State Conservation Department will also. Numerous pamphlets are always available.

Local Boy Scouts and sportsmen can also get committees to build duck boxes and nesting cans to be erected on their wet lands. Holding and so called multi purpose dams can be stressed for future wet lands and also for the all important water resource development we need now.

The special ruling prohibiting overnight parking will continue in effect until the streets are swept and there is less possibility of another snow storm.

The devoted career workers of the United States Postal Service rendered another outstanding performance in handling the holiday mail load and we think Senator Olin Johnston of South Carolina raised some interesting questions about the use of mechanical equipment to assist the employes.

Now that the big rush is over, Congress should follow Senator Johnston's lead in trying to learn how the Post Office Department can make greater use of mechanization to move more of the load for the workers—without harm to the best interests of the workers.

Little Edward's garden had just been completed, each tiny row had its seed envelope fastened on a stick, picturing here a radish, there an onion, and there a bean; but alsa! a heavy rain had already washed away the envelopes. Edward was in tears. When questioned, he exclaimed:

Little Edward—Oh, mamma, the pictures have all been washed away. Now how will the seeds know what to grow up into?

Man—I've been coming here for ages, but I've never seen Mary. Where is she?

Waitress — She's just where the sign says, "Home Cooking."

Highland Junior Named to Attend Legion Boys State

Robert Mandia a junior in Highland High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mandia of Clintondale, has been selected to attend American Legion Boys' State at Colgate University during the week of June 24, according to John C. Miller, Boys' State chairman for Lloyd Post 193 of the American Legion.

Young Mandia competed in the local section of the National High School Oratorical Contest and by virtue of winning first place in this contest, he was the Highland High representative in the Third District seven contest held at Hudson on February 17.

Held at Hamilton

Boys' State will be held from June 24 to June 30 at Hamilton. The boys may enroll at 1 p. m., June 24 and may leave on June 30 any time after 9 a. m.

The facilities and plant of Colgate University are ideal for the accomplishments of the aims of Boys' State. Colgate University is situated amid the rolling hills of the Chenango Valley some 1,130 feet above sea level and the location is ideal for this splendid program offered by The American Legion, Department of New York.

An indoor swimming pool will be at the disposal of the boys after they have completed their duties. A gymnasium, tennis courts, playgrounds and athletic fields furnish abundant space to conduct a program of recreation.

Boys must be at least 15 years of age at time of making application, must have completed their junior year and intend to return to school in the fall as seniors to complete high school, are residents of the state and have the following qualifications:

Potential leadership, ability to get along with others, mentally alert and physically clean, honest, good personality, vigorous, cooperative and enthusiastic, and good citizenship.

Judges Application

The right to accept or reject any application for admittance to Boys' State is reserved by the board of directors.

During the past few years Boys' State has been fortunate in obtaining the services of high school teachers and law school students who have been with the program for many years. Thirty cities will be formed at Boys' State and each city will consist of 30 boys and the 30 cities will be divided into 10 counties. A counselor will be assigned to each city and it will be the duty of the counselor to assist the boys and guide them in their activities.

In addition to government work, many activities are provided for the boys. A band concert will be arranged and boys who play instruments are encouraged to bring them. In the past Boys' State has organized bands consisting of approximately 100 pieces. A daily newspaper will be printed by the boys.

A police force wwill be organized and court trials held. Examinations will be given to those boys who wish to be admitted to the bar of Boys' State.

A talent show will be arranged and any boy who has exceptional ability will be permitted to perform. Boys' State chaplains will participate in the morning assembly programs.

Any boy desiring to organize any other activity may do so by contacting his counselor for approval.

The board of directors of Boys' State strongly recommends that each boy be given a medical examination by his family physician before he arrives at Boys' State. Each boy will be given a medical examination upon his arrival at Boys' State but in order that no contagion be brought to the state, the board asks that this percaution be taken for the safety of the youngsters.

Any person found in possession of liquor, fire arms, or explosives will be immediately dismissed and barred from Boys' State. The sponsoring organization will be notified accordingly. Boys will not be permitted to drive while there.

Boys' State is a citizenship training program designed to meet the needs of youth and is sponsored by the American Legion, Department. It inculcates individual responsibility to community, state and nation and the "learn by doing" concept is employed on the theory that good citizenship is only in part a matter of knowledge, intellect and understanding. Boys' State has been aptly described as a laboratory of practical political science.

New Program Is Noted by Youth Chairman at YM

G. Herbert DeKay, chairman of the YMCA Youth Committee, announces a new concept of programming called the unit plan for boys in the Kingston area.

The Physical Department and Youth Committees have been studying the needs of boys from first through sixth grade for several months and recommend the YMCA unit plan to all parents.

In the unit plan the year is divided into four major program units, fall, winter, spring and summer with weekly classes held for eight or 10 weeks. Every boy member old or new must re-register for each unit according to school grade and swimming ability. Each class session has gym and swim skill instruction all in one trip to the YMCA.

DeKay also said, "There is no extra charge for this program in the third grade through sixth grade groups and will be a regular membership service." At the last class of each unit parents will be invited to see their son's progress on the gym and in the pool.

A new field of service will be for first and second grade boys in the teaching of swimming only. This will be a special class for boys 48 inches tall and will be held on Saturday from 9 a. m. to 9:45 called the Pollyweg class. This class starts Saturday, March 24 and will enroll up to 20 boys for 10 weeks of swim instruction. The last class June 2 will be a visitors and demonstration day. There will be a nominal fee for this class as the boys are too young to become members of the Y.

The third and fourth grade classes will start Tuesday, March 27, at 3:45 p. m. and will offer gym skills in trampoline, softball, fundaments and skills. Boys who cannot swim are called beginners and boys who can swim 40 feet, are called Minnows.

The fifth and sixth grade classes will start Wednesday, March 28, at 3:45 p. m., and will offer more advanced skills on the trampoline and in softball skills. The swimming skills taught will start with Minnow skills and the other group will have the fish skills instruction.

The Y Staff has prepared an explanatory flyer with attached application for each of the above unit classes. These may be obtained at the Y or a telephone call will bring one to those interested by mail.

Chairman DeKay feels that this type of program will appeal to concerned parents because:

1. Parents like to plan their child's participation on a definite basis with swim and gym skill instruction during one trip to the Y.M.C.A.

2. Parents have opportunity to organize car pools and transportation for a specified period of weeks.

3. Boys can enter or leave program each unit and be assured of a complete unit of skills each period.

4. Regular attendance of each boy assists in making adjustments and new friends.

5. The staff can do a more personal job with each boy and groups remain intact so new children do not break into classes after others have progressed in their work.

6. Parents and friends will have the opportunity to visit the last class to see the progres of the youngsters in both gym and swim skills.

Tests to Decide Army Deferment For Students Set

Applications for the Selective Service College qualification test to be given April 17 are now available to college students at Local Boards 18 and 19, Post Office Building, Kingston, Dr. Robert K. Ploss, chairman, has announced.

Among the sites for the tests in the area will be Middletown, Orange County Community College; Oneonta, Hartwick College and Poughkeepsie, Poughkeepsie High School.

Students registered with Selective Service in the state who are now attending college outside of the state should contact the proper authorities at the college for information on applications for the test and testing sites.

Scores made on the test will provide local boards with evidence of apitude for continued undergraduate and graduate study. The scores will not of themselves determine eligibility for deferment, but are considered with other information by the boards in determining whether to defer individual registrants for further study.

The test, used since 1951 to aid local boards in determining questions of student deferment, is administered by the Educational Testing Service Princeton, New Jersey.

To be eligible to take the test, the applicant must be satisfortorily pursuing a full-time college course, undergraduate or graduate level, leading to a degree. He need not be a student of a 4-year college, but his entire course of study must be satisfactory for transfer of credits to a degree-granting instution.

The applicant must be a Selective Service registrant who intends to seek deferment as a student. He can take the test only once.

"At the present time, New York local boards reach men for induction at about are 23," Dr. Ploss said. "Students generally can be nearly through their undergraduate studies at that age. But those planning to continue studies in graduate school, for example, will need a deferment to do so. Also heavier draft calls would lower the age at which local boards reach men for induction, and deferments might be necessary to finish undergraduate work."

In either case, Dr. Ploss pointed out, a test score in the file will give the local board additional important information to use in determining whether a registrant is eligible for a student deferment.

Rochester Board Adds Constable To Police Force

Rochester Town Board adopted a resolution at its recent meeting increasing the number of constables from four to five, and appointed Sidney Solcberg of Leibhardt to a one-year term.

The town clerk was authorized to notify the three fire companies in the area that the Cherrytown bridge had been reopened and that it is posted for a three-ton limit.

Reports Finances

In his report to the board, Supervisor A. Richard Terwilliger reported General Fund disbursements were $4,218.78, and the balance $6,600.04. In the highway fund disbursements were $10,294.04 and the balance $5,435.78.

The town clerk's report indicated receipts for February $1,011.60, with $14.50 paid to the Ulster County clerk; $879 paid to county treasurer and $118.10 to the supervisor.

Tax collector's report for February was fees of $31.27.

Bills were audited and ordered paid.

Supervisor Terwilliger filed an annual report for 1961 and requested the filing of Serial Bond No. 1, which was for snow plow equipment, and which had been paid and was returned to the town.

Discuss Taxes

A discussion on advantages of payment of taxes in installments ensued.

Supervisor Terwilliger reported the town would have to make application to the board of supervisors to make available an installment tax program. He stated the board of supervisors will request the State Tax Commission to send information on this matter which is under study by a committee of which Supervisor Terwilliger is a member . Supervisor Terwilliger stated that a memorandum from Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R), indicated a bill had been introduced in the legislature.

Councilman Morris Sims noted that payment of taxes in two installments each year, one in the summer months when living expenses are lower, would be advantageous.

A resolution was offered and accepted, authorizing the signing of a petition for legalizing of an Act for payment of claims of the highway department of the town.

Suggests Census

A town census each five years following a Federal census was suggested by Councilman Morris Sims. He pointed out that there would be a gain for the town in per capita income. It was pointed out that the town had gained 500 people in the last 10 year enumeration. The town could have gained $4,437 in per capita assistance had there been a five-year census, which Sims estimated would have cost $400.

Supervisor Terwilliger noted that maps would have to be prepared and furnished if this were done.

A motion was adopted authorizing advertisement for sealed bids on supply and delivery of fuel and diesel oil to the town from March 31, 1962 to March 31, 1963. The present contract expires March 31.

To remove fruit stains from washable fabrics, rub powdered borax into spots. Then pour boiling water through them. Launder material as usual.

Center Hall in 3-Bedroom Home Also Deflects Drafts

By JACK McELENEY

Those old-world architects had something when they built a home around a patio. We've borrowed their idea, put it in modern dress—and present "The Barton."

The result is literally an outdoor living room. You have only to enclose one wall—not four—to have full, year-'round use.

Of course, there is an indoor living room too. Combined with the dinette, it runs the full sweep of the house, some 32 feet. A simple but effective fireplace and a dramatic picture window enhance the room.

I think you'll like the center hall in "The Barton." In a way it can be considered the main artery of the house, since it connects every room with the others. While the hall is right in the middle of the building, as you've probably noticed on the floor plan, it is no gloomy cavern. A glazed front door, plus a side window, combine to allow plenty of light to penetrate.

The location of the hall—at right angles to the front door—also takes the sting out of any stray drafts.

This is a three-bedroom home, the ideal size for the majority of families today. Certainly you need this many if you have both boys and girls or have overnight visitors. You'll find each of the bedrooms is ample in size; the master bedroom, for example, measures 11 by 14 feet and has a wardrobe that can absorb an almost unbelievable amount of clothing.

With a kitchen like "The Barton's a woman will come to look forward to entertaining and preparing family meals. It won't take her long to realize how good arrangement and design can save her steps, how much more pleasant it is to work in cheerful surroundings. After all, the dining room is right next to the kitchen and a back door is handy for outdoor meals.

We are prepared to furnish plans for "The Barton" with or without basement. Without basement, the cubage is 22,600 cu. ft., with the stair space used for a furnace room. With basement, the size is 28,200 cu. ft. You may obtain blueprints for single or double garage to match this house for only $2.50 a set. Additional sets are $1.50 apiece.

Our artist shows "The Barton" as a wood frame house with wood siding. However, the plans show how it may also be built of brick veneer or concrete block. Pier foundations methods are also given.

The design conforms with the highest construction standards. They meet requirements of the Federal Housing Administration, and electrical wiring follows specifications of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

One way to determine the quality of a home is to check the use of ceramic tile on bathroom walls. Does it extend all the way to the ceiling? For warmth and intimacy, a sunken living room is hard to beat. If you're planning to build a home, you might keep this in mind. Highland Junior Named to Attend Legion Boys State

Robert Mandia a junior in Highland High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mandia of Clintondale, has been selected to attend American Legion Boys' State at Colgate University during the week of June 24, according to John C. Miller, Boys' State chairman for Lloyd Post 193 of the American Legion.

Young Mandia competed in the local section of the National High School Oratorical Contest and by virtue of winning first place in this contest, he was the Highland High representative in the Third District seven contest held at Hudson on February 17.

Held at Hamilton

Boys' State will be held from June 24 to June 30 at Hamilton. The boys may enroll at 1 p. m., June 24 and may leave on June 30 any time after 9 a. m.

The facilities and plant of Colgate University are ideal for the accomplishments of the aims of Boys' State. Colgate University is situated amid the rolling hills of the Chenango Valley some 1,130 feet above sea level and the location is ideal for this splendid program offered by The American Legion, Department of New York.

An indoor swimming pool will be at the disposal of the boys after they have completed their duties. A gymnasium, tennis courts, playgrounds and athletic fields furnish abundant space to conduct a program of recreation.

Boys must be at least 15 years of age at time of making application, must have completed their junior year and intend to return to school in the fall as seniors to complete high school, are residents of the state and have the following qualifications:

Potential leadership, ability to get along with others, mentally alert and physically clean, honest, good personality, vigorous, cooperative and enthusiastic, and good citizenship.

Judges Application

The right to accept or reject any application for admittance to Boys' State is reserved by the board of directors.

During the past few years Boys' State has been fortunate in obtaining the services of high school teachers and law school students who have been with the program for many years. Thirty cities will be formed at Boys' State and each city will consist of 30 boys and the 30 cities will be divided into 10 counties. A counselor will be assigned to each city and it will be the duty of the counselor to assist the boys and guide them in their activities.

In addition to government work, many activities are provided for the boys. A band concert will be arranged and boys who play instruments are encouraged to bring them. In the past Boys' State has organized bands consisting of approximately 100 pieces. A daily newspaper will be printed by the boys.

A police force wwill be organized and court trials held. Examinations will be given to those boys who wish to be admitted to the bar of Boys' State.

A talent show will be arranged and any boy who has exceptional ability will be permitted to perform. Boys' State chaplains will participate in the morning assembly programs.

Any boy desiring to organize any other activity may do so by contacting his counselor for approval.

The board of directors of Boys' State strongly recommends that each boy be given a medical examination by his family physician before he arrives at Boys' State. Each boy will be given a medical examination upon his arrival at Boys' State but in order that no contagion be brought to the state, the board asks that this percaution be taken for the safety of the youngsters.

Any person found in possession of liquor, fire arms, or explosives will be immediately dismissed and barred from Boys' State. The sponsoring organization will be notified accordingly. Boys will not be permitted to drive while there.

Boys' State is a citizenship training program designed to meet the needs of youth and is sponsored by the American Legion, Department. It inculcates individual responsibility to community, state and nation and the "learn by doing" concept is employed on the theory that good citizenship is only in part a matter of knowledge, intellect and understanding. Boys' State has been aptly described as a laboratory of practical political science.

New Program Is Noted by Youth Chairman at YM

G. Herbert DeKay, chairman of the YMCA Youth Committee, announces a new concept of programming called the unit plan for boys in the Kingston area.

The Physical Department and Youth Committees have been studying the needs of boys from first through sixth grade for several months and recommend the YMCA unit plan to all parents.

In the unit plan the year is divided into four major program units, fall, winter, spring and summer with weekly classes held for eight or 10 weeks. Every boy member old or new must re-register for each unit according to school grade and swimming ability. Each class session has gym and swim skill instruction all in one trip to the YMCA.

DeKay also said, "There is no extra charge for this program in the third grade through sixth grade groups and will be a regular membership service." At the last class of each unit parents will be invited to see their son's progress on the gym and in the pool.

A new field of service will be for first and second grade boys in the teaching of swimming only. This will be a special class for boys 48 inches tall and will be held on Saturday from 9 a. m. to 9:45 called the Pollyweg class. This class starts Saturday, March 24 and will enroll up to 20 boys for 10 weeks of swim instruction. The last class June 2 will be a visitors and demonstration day. There will be a nominal fee for this class as the boys are too young to become members of the Y.

The third and fourth grade classes will start Tuesday, March 27, at 3:45 p. m. and will offer gym skills in trampoline, softball, fundaments and skills. Boys who cannot swim are called beginners and boys who can swim 40 feet, are called Minnows.

The fifth and sixth grade classes will start Wednesday, March 28, at 3:45 p. m., and will offer more advanced skills on the trampoline and in softball skills. The swimming skills taught will start with Minnow skills and the other group will have the fish skills instruction.

The Y Staff has prepared an explanatory flyer with attached application for each of the above unit classes. These may be obtained at the Y or a telephone call will bring one to those interested by mail.

Chairman DeKay feels that this type of program will appeal to concerned parents because:

1. Parents like to plan their child's participation on a definite basis with swim and gym skill instruction during one trip to the Y.M.C.A.
2. Parents have opportunity to organize car pools and transportation for a specified period of weeks.
3. Boys can enter or leave program each unit and be assured of a complete unit of skills each period.
4. Regular attendance of each boy assists in making adjustments and new friends.
5. The staff can do a more personal job with each boy and groups remain intact so new children do not break into classes after others have progressed in their work.
6. Parents and friends will have the opportunity to visit the last class to see the progres of the youngsters in both gym and swim skills.

Tests to Decide Army Deferment For Students Set

Applications for the Selective Service College qualification test to be given April 17 are now available to college students at Local Boards 18 and 19, Post Office Building, Kingston, Dr. Robert K. Ploss, chairman, has announced.

Among the sites for the tests in the area will be Middletown, Orange County Community College; Oneonta, Hartwick College and Poughkeepsie, Poughkeepsie High School.

Students registered with Selective Service in the state who are now attending college outside of the state should contact the proper authorities at the college for information on applications for the test and testing sites.

Scores made on the test will provide local boards with evidence of apitude for continued undergraduate and graduate study. The scores will not of themselves determine eligibility for deferment, but are considered with other information by the boards in determining whether to defer individual registrants for further study.

The test, used since 1951 to aid local boards in determining questions of student deferment, is administered by the Educational Testing Service Princeton, New Jersey.

To be eligible to take the test, the applicant must be satisfortorily pursuing a full-time college course, undergraduate or graduate level, leading to a degree. He need not be a student of a 4-year college, but his entire course of study must be satisfactory for transfer of credits to a degree-granting instution.

The applicant must be a Selective Service registrant who intends to seek deferment as a student. He can take the test only once.

"At the present time, New York local boards reach men for induction at about are 23," Dr. Ploss said. "Students generally can be nearly through their undergraduate studies at that age. But those planning to continue studies in graduate school, for example, will need a deferment to do so. Also heavier draft calls would lower the age at which local boards reach men for induction, and deferments might be necessary to finish undergraduate work."

In either case, Dr. Ploss pointed out, a test score in the file will give the local board additional important information to use in determining whether a registrant is eligible for a student deferment.

NFA Captures Title With 50-43 Triumph

Goldies Rally Tops Haverstraw In Section 9 Tilt

Newburgh Free Academy rallied from a 13-point halftime deficit and defeated Haverstraw, 50-43, last night at the Orange County Community College gym in Middletown to capture the Section Nine, Class A Cage championship.

The DUSO champs had trouble finding the range in the first and second periods and left the floor at the intermission on the short end of a 29-16 score. However, Joe Gaspard's powerful quintet started to whittle away at the huge lead in the third period and finally overtook the scrappy Rockland County club with five minutes left in the game.

An 18-2 Record

Richie Scott, John Sileno and Al Angelone, the one-two-three punch of the Goldies, did most of the scoring for the winners, who closed their season with a splendid 18-2 record. Jo Jo Mackey hit for 18 markers to lead Haverstraw, but he was guarded well by Jim McMillan.

In the Class D title game, Jeffersonville nipped Livingston Manor, 59-53, in an all Western Sullivan league tilt.

More than 1,000 fans were in the OCCC gym for the doubleheader and quite a few were turned away.

Tonight, the Class B and C championships will be decided at the same site. Wallkill will play Nanuet at 7 o'clock for the "C" title and then Tappan Zee will meet Goshen at 8:30 for the "B" crown.

Jones Dairy Seeks Pin Record This Weekend

With their sights set on establishing a Hudson Valley Bowling League record for highest team average in a season, Jones Dairy keglers are at the Bowlero tonight for a position night meeting with Miron Lumber. The match will begin at 8 o'clock and it promises to be a lively one between two rivals.

The teams are slated to roll another match at the Bowlerama and that one will conclude the season. They have yet to agree on a time but in all probabilities, it will be rolled this weekend.

The Dairymen have a 1012.35 average for 72 games. The record is 1012, set during 1954-55 by another Jones Dairy team.

Jones has team records this season of 3358 and 1202. Individual highs are Sam Fisher (765) and Chris Gallo (286).

Jack Ferraro has the high average title wrapped up for the second straight year. He's hitting at a 209.5 mark for 66 games. Sweden Nearing Hockey Title

DENVER (AP)—Nothing but a reversal of ice-shattering proportions stands between Sweden and its first world hockey championship since 1957.

The smooth, poised Swedes, already conquerors of the United States and Canada, struck early and late to subdue a scrappy Norwegian team Friday night 10-2. Now only West Germany blocks undefeated Sweden's road in a game at the Denver Coliseum tonight.

The U.S. team jumped into second place, with 10 points to the Swedes' 12, by trimming Switzerland 12-1 Friday night. The Americans' 5-1 record undoubtedly will be matched by Canada's defending champions after they play crippled Great Britain in Colorado Springs tonight.

This set up the Canada-U.S. tussle for second place—assuming Sweden defeats West Germany—in a televised game in Colorado Springs Sunday at 1:30 p.m. EST.

Shantz Sparkles For Colts

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Veteran pitcher Bobby Shantz, at 5-foot-6¼ one of the littlest big leaguers, is a towering figure at the Houston Colts camp, where he has turned in the most impressive report card among 20 hurlers bucking for jobs with the new National League club.

Making his second appearance of the spring, the 36-year-old southpaw plucked from Pittsburgh in the expansion draft hurled six innings of runless ball and allowed only three scratch singles as the Colts belted the Boston Red Sox 9-1 in an exhibition at Scottsdale, Ariz., Friday.

Shantz, most valuable player in the American League when he posted a 24-7 record for the then Philadelphia Athletics in 1952, is the senior member of the Colts' mound crew but could be a vaulable asset for Manager Harry Craft in Houston's first year of operation.

A poised, smooth pitcher with a career won-lost record of 105-86, Shantz has a low lifetime earned run of 3.48 for 14 seasons. He had a creditable 6-3 mark with a 3.34 ERA in relief with the Pirates last season.

Bob Bruce, American League castoff acquired from Detroit, worked the last three innings for the Colts to complete a six-hit job. Home runs by Bob Aspromonte and Jim Pendleton 37 gave Houston its third win in seven games.

Chicago's White Sox and Cubs continued win streaks each taking their fourth in succession. The Sox defeated Kansas City 10-7 at West Palm Beach for their sixth triumph in seven games and the Cubs edged San Francisco 8-7 at Mesa.

In other games, St. Louis bopped Milwaukee 8-6 at St. Petersburg, Cleveland walloped the Los Angeles Angels 10-2 at Tucson, Cincinnati beat the New York Mets 5-3 at Tampa, Washington beat Minnesota 5-2 at Pompano Beach and Baltimore defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 9-4 in a night game at Miami.

The New York Yankees-Pittsburgh and Detroit-Philadelphia games were canceled due to rain and wet grounds.

Rookie Bob Farley and Floyd Robinson each drove in four runs apiece, as the White Sox tagged A's starter Norm Bass for eight runs in the first two innings. The Cubs scored five in the first on a two-run homer by Billy Williams and a three-run shot by George Altman.

The Reds snapped their slump, beating the Mets on home runs by Frank Robinson and Gordon Coleman while Jim O'Toole and Bill Henry spaced nine hits.

The Orioles won their first in five starts with five runs in the eighth on key singles by Earl Robinson and rookie John (Boog) Powell plus two errors by Dodgers shortstop Maury Wills.

Bill Russell Is President Cup Winner for Third Time

Celt Again Picked Over Phil's Wilt

BY MURRAY OLDERMAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — He's not among the first 10 scorers in a league that's point-conscious.

He's not even a leader in any single category.

But the most valuable player in basketball and the winner of the President's Cup for 1962 is Bill Russell, the selfless center of the Boston Celts.

Awarded by the National Basketball Association and determined by a vote of its players conducted by Newspaper Enterprise Association, the trophy is the ultimate recognition for a professional.

Russell, who came into the NBA in 1956 and immediately transformed the Celtics into the greatest basketball unit ever, is the first three-time winner of the award.

In a season where Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors has scored 100 points in a single game and is averaging more than 50 (as opposed to Bill's 18.8), there has been a running debate about MVP merits.

Maybe Eddie Gottlieb, the owner of Wilt's Warriors, settled it when he said, "Chamberlain is the best player in the league. Russell is the most valuable."

Missed Four Games

The Celtics never realized it more than in a mid-season spell when Bill strained his Achilles tendon and was forced to sit out four games. Boston lost all four.

"People don't realize," said Coach Red Auerbach, "we're the smallest team in the league. Bill is our big man. This year it's been harder than ever for him because he has to do it alone. He doesn't have Gene Conley to give him a breather.

"He's got the best attitude I've ever seen. Bill could make the points like the rest of them, but who needs it?

"When it's 'garbage up' time (i.e., the Celts have a safe margin and the points come easy), I let him sit down for a while."

Russell, at 28, shows little diminution of power. He believes the league was tougher when he broke in. All he has to do to keep from getting the big head is remember his first game in Syracuse, when he guarded Earl Lloyd.

'I got a live one," yelled Lloyd to his teammates and promptly screened off Russell with a double block behind which he looped a set shot.

"Next time they tried it," Bill recalled, 'I ran around that double screen to get at Lloyd. Only he wasn't there. He was on the other side, all alone for a layup."

But with his experience added to great spring and reaction, Russell is generaly acclaimed as the greatest defensive player in basketball history. He used to spend a sleepless, tossing night before encountering Chamberlain.

"No more," shrugged Bill.

How come?

Chamberlain barely nudged Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals for second spot in this year's balloting.

Other past winners of the President's Cup are Chamberlain, Bob Pettit of St. Louis and Bob Cousy of Boston.

Kept Going

LAUREL, Md. — (NEA)—The 1960 Belmont Stakes winner, Celtic Ash, holds the mile track record of 1:37 2/5 at the Laurel Race Course. The Irish-bred colt set this standard about two months before his important New York victory.

Patterson and Liston Sign, Will Fight During the Summer

NEW YORK (AP)—"I don't think there's nobody in the world as good as myself."

Charles (Sonny) Liston, dripping confidence and contempt, had that comment on the fight he will have next summer with champion Floyd Patterson for the world heavyweight title.

They signed the contracts Friday for the fight, which could be the richest of all time. The promoter, Tom Bolan, predicted a gross of at least $6 million. There will be no live television.

Bolan said six cities, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Washington and Seattle were under consideration as the site, which will be picked by Patterson.

The champion will also pick the date and announce it within a month. It will be not earlier than June 18 nor later than Sept. 30.

"Seattle has offered us a $1-million guarantee to hold the fight in connection with the World's Fair," Bolan said. "We will explore all possibilities and take the one giving us the best deal."

A Bad Deal

Liston made it clear at the signing ceremonies that he thinks he is getting a bad deal. He signed for 12½ per cent of the gross. Patterson gets 45 per cent of the live gate, and 55 per cent of the other rights, plus the right to dictate time, place and promoter for a return match if Liston wins.

Liston already is listed a 7-5 favorite.

Patterson said that didn't bother him. "The odds were 2-1 against me in the second Johansson fight," the champion said. "I hope to make the experts look bad again."

Liston said he planned to change the champion's mind about that about the fourth round.

Patterson said he expected to weigh about 191 or 192 some three or four pounds heavier than he did in his last title defense against Tom McNeely Dec. 4. Liston's last outing was on the same date, in the other half of a closed-circuit television doubleheader. He weighed 212½ in knocking out Albert Westphal of Germany in the first round.

Both fighters are 27.

Patterson, born in Waco, N.C., is the only heavyweight champion ever to regain the crown. He did it by knocking out Ingemar Johansson of Sweden in June 1960, after being knocked out himself the year before. His only other loss was an eight-round decision to Joey Maxim in 1954.

Liston, an Arkansas-born Philadelphian, has not lost since 1955. He has won 33, 24 on knockouts.

Clarkson Skaters Set for Finals Of NCAA Tourney

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Upstart Clarkson faces an uphill battle against powerful Michigan Tech in the final of the NCAA hockey tourney tonight, but the Golden Knights want it that way.

"We're looking forward to meeting Michigan Tech," Clarkson captain Jack Graves said. "If we're going to win this, we've got to win against the best."

The Potsdam school will be seeking to break an eight-year Western domination of the national title. Not since Rensselaer edged Minnesota 5-4 in 1954 has an Eastern team won it. Only once since then, last year, has an Eastern team even made the finals.

Michigan Tech, which owns a sparkling 27-3 record, charged into the final on the strength of a 6-1 victory over St. Lawrence Friday night, the Huskies' 19th straight victory.

Clarkson had gained the final round Thursday night in a 5-4 upset of Michigan. Clarkson carries a 22-2-1 record into the final.

Michigan and St. Lawrence play for third place this afternoon.

St. Lawrence, surprisingly, got a 1-0 lead midway through the first period when Jim McInnes jammed one in while the Huskies were two men short Friday night. But it was the last look-in the Larries had.

Don Hermanson tied it a few minutes later and put Michigan Tech ahead to stay on a power play in the second period. The Huskies added another two in the middle session and made a rout of it with three in the last period.

Scott Watson, Jerry Sullivan, Louis Angotti and John Ivanitz did the rest of the Michigan Tech scoring.

Deer Killings Increase in State

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The number of deer killed by hunters in New York State during the 1961 season rose nearly 30 per cent above the total for the previous year.

The State Conservation Department, reporting the increase Friday, attributed it to larger deer herds and extension of the party-permit system to central and western counties.

The total take by hunters was 58,454, compared with 45,755 in the 1960 hunting season.

As usual, the Catskills produced the most deer for hunters—25,421. In the Adirondacks, 12,684 were bagged.

For the central and western regions, the total was 20,349, an increase of 8,754 over the previous year.

The party permit allows a group of hunters to take one deer in addition to the one allowed each hunter. Party size varies.

The Conservation Department said 36,904 of the deer killed last year were adult bucks, 4,295 were buck fawns, 13,201 were adult does and 4,054 were doe fawns.

Ohio State, Kentucky Play Tonight in NCAA Tourney

They're all big now, but none may be bigger than Ohio State's match with careful Kentucky tonight in the finals of the NCAA regional tourney at Iowa City, Iowa.

The mighty Buckeyes, driving toward the NCAA title denied them in overtime by Cincinnati last season, handled Western Kentucky with ease 93-73 in their first tournament test Friday night.

Kentucky, however, may be a different matter. The Wildcats, whose disciplined attention to Coach Adolph Rupp's deliberately designed patterns brought them the No. 3 spot in the rankings, romped past Butler 81-60 in the other semifinal Friday night.

Their match tonight may be the glamour game of the NCAA tournament, which will be crowning champion Cincinnati going against Colorado. Also on the night's schedule are finals in the NCAA small college tourney, the NAIA tourney and two first-round and two quarter-final matches in the National Invitation Tourney.

The Lineup

Here's the NCAA lineup:

Wake Forest (20-8) vs. Villanova (21-6) at College Park, Md.

Kentucky (25-2) vs. Ohio State (24-1) at Iowa City, Iowa.

Colorado (19-6) vs. Cincinnati (26-2) at Manhattan, Kan.

Oregon State (22-4) vs. UCLA (17-10) at Provo, Utah.

The winners advance to the semifinals at Louisville, Ky., March 23.

Sacramento State (21-9) and Mount St. Mary's of Maryland (23-5) tangle for the NCAA small college championship at Evansville, Ind., while Prairie View A&M (26-3) and Westminster (Pa) (26-2) are matched for the NAIA title at Kansas City.

The NIT, in New York's Madison Square Garden, has Duquesne against Navy and Colorado State against Holy Cross in afternoon first-round games and Loyola of Chicago playing Temple and Houston vs. Dayton in quarterfinals tonight.

The victories by Kentucky and Ohio State, top-ranked team in the nation for the second year in a row, set up a return of last year's Mideast showdown, won by Ohio State 87-74. Neither had much trouble in advancing Friday night.

Ohio State used its usual fast break to turn a 27-26 deficit late in the first half to a 43-30 lead at intermission, even though All-America Jerry Lucas was on the bench with four fouls. Sophomore Gary Bradds and veteran John Havlicek led the Buckeyes ahead to stay.

Cotton Nash scored 23 points and Larry Pursiful had 26 in Kentucky's easy conquest.

Cincinnati, No. 2 in the nation, got a 24-point performance by bruising Paul Hogue in a 66-46 thumping of Creighton. Colorado swept into an 11-point halftime lead and withstood a furious Texas Tech rallies for a 67-60 victory.

In the East, Wake Forest took a 96-85 overtime triumph over St. Joseph's of Philadelphia while Villanova overcame a 12-point deficit and went on to defeat New York University 79-76 on Hubie White's 31-point showing. Wake Forest trailed most of the way, before Billy Packer hit a jumper with 20 seconds left to tie it. The Deacons then scored 22 points in overtime.

Oregon State overcame small, determined Pepperdine 69-67 and UCLA took Utah State 73-62. Oregon State used its superior rebounding to offset Pepperdine's 11-point lead while UCLA built a 13-point halftime lead to knock it over.

The semifinals of the small college tourney were the closest of all as Sacramento State edged Nebraska Wesleyan 74-73 in overtime and Mount St. Mary's advanced with a 58-57 triumph over Southern Illinois. A jumper by Jim Greene won for Sacramento State and Ed Pfeiffer's 20-foot shot at the buzzer put Mount St. Mary's in the finals.

NFA Captures Title With 50-43 Triumph

Goldies Rally Tops Haverstraw In Section 9 Tilt

Newburgh Free Academy rallied from a 13-point halftime deficit and defeated Haverstraw, 50-43, last night at the Orange County Community College gym in Middletown to capture the Section Nine, Class A Cage championship.

The DUSO champs had trouble finding the range in the first and second periods and left the floor at the intermission on the short end of a 29-16 score. However, Joe Gaspard's powerful quintet started to whittle away at the huge lead in the third period and finally overtook the scrappy Rockland County club with five minutes left in the game.

An 18-2 Record

Richie Scott, John Sileno and Al Angelone, the one-two-three punch of the Goldies, did most of the scoring for the winners, who closed their season with a splendid 18-2 record. Jo Jo Mackey hit for 18 markers to lead Haverstraw, but he was guarded well by Jim McMillan.

In the Class D title game, Jeffersonville nipped Livingston Manor, 59-53, in an all Western Sullivan league tilt.

More than 1,000 fans were in the OCCC gym for the doubleheader and quite a few were turned away.

Tonight, the Class B and C championships will be decided at the same site. Wallkill will play Nanuet at 7 o'clock for the "C" title and then Tappan Zee will meet Goshen at 8:30 for the "B" crown.

Jones Dairy Seeks Pin Record This Weekend

With their sights set on establishing a Hudson Valley Bowling League record for highest team average in a season, Jones Dairy keglers are at the Bowlero tonight for a position night meeting with Miron Lumber. The match will begin at 8 o'clock and it promises to be a lively one between two rivals.

The teams are slated to roll another match at the Bowlerama and that one will conclude the season. They have yet to agree on a time but in all probabilities, it will be rolled this weekend.

The Dairymen have a 1012.35 average for 72 games. The record is 1012, set during 1954-55 by another Jones Dairy team.

Jones has team records this season of 3358 and 1202. Individual highs are Sam Fisher (765) and Chris Gallo (286).

Jack Ferraro has the high average title wrapped up for the second straight year. He's hitting at a 209.5 mark for 66 games. Buster Ferraro is at 203.1, John Ferraro Sr. 202.18 and Tim Bilyeu of Ellenville at 200.1. The other two Dairymen —Larry Petersen at 199.32 and Chris Gallo 198.9—have outside chances of finishing in the 200 average bracket.

Sweden Nearing Hockey Title

DENVER (AP)—Nothing but a reversal of ice-shattering proportions stands between Sweden and its first world hockey championship since 1957.

The smooth, poised Swedes, already conquerors of the United States and Canada, struck early and late to subdue a scrappy Norwegian team Friday night 10-2. Now only West Germany blocks undefeated Sweden's road in a game at the Denver Coliseum tonight.

The U.S. team jumped into second place, with 10 points to the Swedes' 12, by trimming Switzerland 12-1 Friday night. The Americans' 5-1 record undoubtedly will be matched by Canada's defending champions after they play crippled Great Britain in Colorado Springs tonight.

This set up the Canada-U.S. tussle for second place—assuming Sweden defeats West Germany—in a televised game in Colorado Springs Sunday at 1:30 p.m. EST.

Shantz Sparkles For Colts

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Veteran pitcher Bobby Shantz, at 5-foot-6¼ one of the littlest big leaguers, is a towering figure at the Houston Colts camp, where he has turned in the most impressive report card among 20 hurlers bucking for jobs with the new National League club.

Making his second appearance of the spring, the 36-year-old southpaw plucked from Pittsburgh in the expansion draft hurled six innings of runless ball and allowed only three scratch singles as the Colts belted the Boston Red Sox 9-1 in an exhibition at Scottsdale, Ariz., Friday.

Shantz, most valuable player in the American League when he posted a 24-7 record for the then Philadelphia Athletics in 1952, is the senior member of the Colts' mound crew but could be a vaulable asset for Manager Harry Craft in Houston's first year of operation.

A poised, smooth pitcher with a career won-lost record of 105-86, Shantz has a low lifetime earned run of 3.48 for 14 seasons. He had a creditable 6-3 mark with a 3.34 ERA in relief with the Pirates last season.

Bob Bruce, American League castoff acquired from Detroit, worked the last three innings for the Colts to complete a six-hit job. Home runs by Bob Aspromonte and Jim Pendleton 37 gave Houston its third win in seven games.

Chicago's White Sox and Cubs continued win streaks each taking their fourth in succession. The Sox defeated Kansas City 10-7 at West Palm Beach for their sixth triumph in seven games and the Cubs edged San Francisco 8-7 at Mesa.

In other games, St. Louis bopped Milwaukee 8-6 at St. Petersburg, Cleveland walloped the Los Angeles Angels 10-2 at Tucson, Cincinnati beat the New York Mets 5-3 at Tampa, Washington beat Minnesota 5-2 at Pompano Beach and Baltimore defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 9-4 in a night game at Miami.

The New York Yankees-Pittsburgh and Detroit-Philadelphia games were canceled due to rain and wet grounds.

Rookie Bob Farley and Floyd Robinson each drove in four runs apiece, as the White Sox tagged A's starter Norm Bass for eight runs in the first two innings. The Cubs scored five in the first on a two-run homer by Billy Williams and a three-run shot by George Altman.

The Reds snapped their slump, beating the Mets on home runs by Frank Robinson and Gordon Coleman while Jim O'Toole and Bill Henry spaced nine hits.

The Orioles won their first in five starts with five runs in the eighth on key singles by Earl Robinson and rookie John (Boog) Powell plus two errors by Dodgers shortstop Maury Wills.

Celt Again Picked Over Phil's Wilt

BY MURRAY OLDERMAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — He's not among the first 10 scorers in a league that's point-conscious.

He's not even a leader in any single category.

But the most valuable player in basketball and the winner of the President's Cup for 1962 is Bill Russell, the selfless center of the Boston Celts.

Awarded by the National Basketball Association and determined by a vote of its players conducted by Newspaper Enterprise Association, the trophy is the ultimate recognition for a professional.

Russell, who came into the NBA in 1956 and immediately transformed the Celtics into the greatest basketball unit ever, is the first three-time winner of the award.

In a season where Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors has scored 100 points in a single game and is averaging more than 50 (as opposed to Bill's 18.8), there has been a running debate about MVP merits.

Maybe Eddie Gottlieb, the owner of Wilt's Warriors, settled it when he said, "Chamberlain is the best player in the league. Russell is the most valuable."

Missed Four Games

The Celtics never realized it more than in a mid-season spell when Bill strained his Achilles tendon and was forced to sit out four games. Boston lost all four.

"People don't realize," said Coach Red Auerbach, "we're the smallest team in the league. Bill is our big man. This year it's been harder than ever for him because he has to do it alone. He doesn't have Gene Conley to give him a breather.

"He's got the best attitude I've ever seen. Bill could make the points like the rest of them, but who needs it?

"When it's 'garbage up' time (i.e., the Celts have a safe margin and the points come easy), I let him sit down for a while."

Russell, at 28, shows little diminution of power. He believes the league was tougher when he broke in. All he has to do to keep from getting the big head is remember his first game in Syracuse, when he guarded Earl Lloyd.

'I got a live one," yelled Lloyd to his teammates and promptly screened off Russell with a double block behind which he looped a set shot.

"Next time they tried it," Bill recalled, 'I ran around that double screen to get at Lloyd. Only he wasn't there. He was on the other side, all alone for a layup."

But with his experience added to great spring and reaction, Russell is generaly acclaimed as the greatest defensive player in basketball history. He used to spend a sleepless, tossing night before encountering Chamberlain.

"No more," shrugged Bill.

How come?

He grinned impishly: 'I take a sleeping pill."

Chamberlain barely nudged Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals for second spot in this year's balloting.

Other past winners of the President's Cup are Chamberlain, Bob Pettit of St. Louis and Bob Cousy of Boston.

Kept Going

LAUREL, Md. — (NEA)—The 1960 Belmont Stakes winner, Celtic Ash, holds the mile track record of 1:37 2/5 at the Laurel Race Course. The Irish-bred colt set this standard about two months before his important New York victory.

Patterson and Liston Sign, Will Fight During the Summer

NEW YORK (AP)—"I don't think there's nobody in the world as good as myself."

Charles (Sonny) Liston, dripping confidence and contempt, had that comment on the fight he will have next summer with champion Floyd Patterson for the world heavyweight title.

They signed the contracts Friday for the fight, which could be the richest of all time. The promoter, Tom Bolan, predicted a gross of at least $6 million. There will be no live television.

Bolan said six cities, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Washington and Seattle were under consideration as the site, which will be picked by Patterson.

The champion will also pick the date and announce it within a month. It will be not earlier than June 18 nor later than Sept. 30.

"Seattle has offered us a $1-million guarantee to hold the fight in connection with the World's Fair," Bolan said. "We will explore all possibilities and take the one giving us the best deal."

A Bad Deal

Liston made it clear at the signing ceremonies that he thinks he is getting a bad deal. He signed for 12½ per cent of the gross. Patterson gets 45 per cent of the live gate, and 55 per cent of the other rights, plus the right to dictate time, place and promoter for a return match if Liston wins.

Liston already is listed a 7-5 favorite.

Patterson said that didn't bother him. "The odds were 2-1 against me in the second Johansson fight," the champion said. "I hope to make the experts look bad again."

Liston said he planned to change the champion's mind about that about the fourth round.

Patterson said he expected to weigh about 191 or 192 some three or four pounds heavier than he did in his last title defense against Tom McNeely Dec. 4. Liston's last outing was on the same date, in the other half of a closed-circuit television doubleheader. He weighed 212½ in knocking out Albert Westphal of Germany in the first round.

Both fighters are 27.

Patterson, born in Waco, N.C., is the only heavyweight champion ever to regain the crown. He did it by knocking out Ingemar Johansson of Sweden in June 1960, after being knocked out himself the year before. His only other loss was an eight-round decision to Joey Maxim in 1954.

Liston, an Arkansas-born Philadelphian, has not lost since 1955. He has won 33, 24 on knockouts.

Clarkson Skaters Set for Finals Of NCAA Tourney

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Upstart Clarkson faces an uphill battle against powerful Michigan Tech in the final of the NCAA hockey tourney tonight, but the Golden Knights want it that way.

"We're looking forward to meeting Michigan Tech," Clarkson captain Jack Graves said. "If we're going to win this, we've got to win against the best."

The Potsdam school will be seeking to break an eight-year Western domination of the national title. Not since Rensselaer edged Minnesota 5-4 in 1954 has an Eastern team won it. Only once since then, last year, has an Eastern team even made the finals.

Michigan Tech, which owns a sparkling 27-3 record, charged into the final on the strength of a 6-1 victory over St. Lawrence Friday night, the Huskies' 19th straight victory.

Clarkson had gained the final round Thursday night in a 5-4 upset of Michigan. Clarkson carries a 22-2-1 record into the final.

Michigan and St. Lawrence play for third place this afternoon.

St. Lawrence, surprisingly, got a 1-0 lead midway through the first period when Jim McInnes jammed one in while the Huskies were two men short Friday night. But it was the last look-in the Larries had.

Don Hermanson tied it a few minutes later and put Michigan Tech ahead to stay on a power play in the second period. The Huskies added another two in the middle session and made a rout of it with three in the last period.

Scott Watson, Jerry Sullivan, Louis Angotti and John Ivanitz did the rest of the Michigan Tech scoring.

Deer Killings Increase in State

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The number of deer killed by hunters in New York State during the 1961 season rose nearly 30 per cent above the total for the previous year.

The State Conservation Department, reporting the increase Friday, attributed it to larger deer herds and extension of the party-permit system to central and western counties.

The total take by hunters was 58,454, compared with 45,755 in the 1960 hunting season.

As usual, the Catskills produced the most deer for hunters—25,421. In the Adirondacks, 12,684 were bagged.

For the central and western regions, the total was 20,349, an increase of 8,754 over the previous year.

The party permit allows a group of hunters to take one deer in addition to the one allowed each hunter. Party size varies.

The Conservation Department said 36,904 of the deer killed last year were adult bucks, 4,295 were buck fawns, 13,201 were adult does and 4,054 were doe fawns.

Ohio State, Kentucky Play Tonight in NCAA Tourney

They're all big now, but none may be bigger than Ohio State's match with careful Kentucky tonight in the finals of the NCAA regional tourney at Iowa City, Iowa.

The mighty Buckeyes, driving toward the NCAA title denied them in overtime by Cincinnati last season, handled Western Kentucky with ease 93-73 in their first tourney test Friday night.

Kentucky, however, may be a different matter. The Wildcats, whose disciplined attention to Coach Adolph Rupp's deliberately designed patterns, brought them the No. 3 spot in the nation, romped past Butler 81-60 in the other semifinal Friday night.

Their match tonight may be the glamor game of the four regional tourneys, which also sees defending champion Cincinnati going against Colorado. Also on the night's schedule are finals in the NCAA small college tourney, finals in the NAIA, and two first-round and two quarter-final matches in the National Invitation Tourney.

The Lineup

Here's the NCAA lineup:

Wake Forest (20-8) vs. Villanova (21-6) at College Park, Md.

Kentucky (25-2) vs. Ohio State (24-1) at Iowa City, Iowa.

Colorado (19-6) vs. Cincinnati (26-2) at Manhattan, Kan.

Oregon State (23-4) vs. UCLA (17-10) at Provo, Utah.

The winners advance to the semifinals at Louisville, Ky., March 23.

Sacramento State (21-9) and Mount St. Mary's of Maryland (23-6) tangle for the NCAA small college championship at Evansville, Ind., while Prairie View A&M (26-3) and Westminster (Pa) (26-2) are matched for the NAIA title at Kansas City.

The NIT, in New York's Madison Square Garden, has Duquesne paired with Navy and Colorado State against Holy Cross in afternoon first-round games and Loyola of Chicago playing Temple and Houston vs. Dayton in quarterfinals tonight.

The victories by Kentucky and Ohio State, top-ranked team in the nation for the second year in a row, set up a replay of last year's Mideast showdown, won by Ohio State 87-74. Neither had much trouble in advancing Friday night.

Ohio State used its usual fast break to turn a 27-26 deficit late in the first half to a 43-30 lead at intermission, even though All-America Jerry Lucas was on the bench with foul trouble at the time. Sophomore Gary Bradds and veteran John Havlicek led the surge, which put the Buckeyes ahead to stay.

Cotton Nash scored 23 points and Larry Pursiful had 26 in Kentucky's easy conquest.

Cincinnati, No. 2 in the nation, got a 24-point performance from hulking Paul Hogue in a 66-46 blasting of Creighton. Colorado swept into an 11-point halftime advantage then held off frantic Texas Tech rallies for a 67-60 victory.

In the East, Wake Forest took a 96-85 overtime triumph over St. Joseph's of Philadelphia while Villanova overcame a 12-point deficit and went on to defeat New York University 79-76 on Hubie White's 31-point showing. Wake Forest trailed most of the way, before Billy Packer hit a jumper with four seconds to go to tie it. The Deacons then poured in 22 points in overtime.

Oregon State overcame small, determined Pepperdine 69-67 and UCLA took Utah State 73-62. Oregon State used its superior rebounding to offset Pepperdine's 41 per cent shooting, while UCLA built a 13-point halftime lead and took it from there.

The semifinals of the small college tourney were the closest of them all. Sacramento State edged Nebraska Wesleyan 74-73 in double overtime and Mount St. Mary's advanced with a 58-57 triumph over Southern Illinois. A free throw by Jim Greene won for Sacramento State and Ed Pfeiffer's 20-foot shot at the buzzer put Mount St. Mary's in the finals.

It Pays to Be A 'Neatnik'

Do you want to be a slick chick in appearance? Of course you do, it's what every boy and girl wants, and here's one way to make the most of your personal appearance.

Be a "neatnik" with your clothes. It's a breeze to keep clothing in order once you get the habit, and you'll be rewarded with spic and span good looks.

Clothes that are covered with lint and dust do nothing for your appearance, Give your coat, suit, or wool clothing a good brushing when you take them off. Then, place the garments on a hanger, letting them air for a while before hanging in the closet.

You won't look well-dressed unless you're well-pressed, so have mom iron your clothes at the first sign of wrinkles.

When a garment has a rip, loose button, or, in the case of girls clothing, sagging hemline, broken shoulder strap, don't delay, have it mended right away. Go into quick action, too, with spotted clothes, for the longer a stain remains on a garment the harder it is to remove.

Shoes that are given proper care look better and wear longer. Dust and brush shoes when you take them off. Keep the leather varieties polished, and the whites spotlessly clean. When not being worn, keep your shoes on shoe trees, or stuff their toes with wads of paper.

Scarfs should be spotlessly clean and wrinkle-free. Never wear dirty gloves, and always let gloves air after a wearing before putting them away.

And girls, clean the outside of your handbags before they get grimy, and give the inside lining an occasional brushing.

Little Englishman takes enthusiastic sniff of chrysanthemum.

'Mum' Is the Word When It Comes to Popularity

The Japanese used to put chrysanthemums under their small hard pillows at night or they stuffed pillows with dried chrysanthemums. This was thought to be good for the brain!

The chrysanthemum is one of the most popular of flowers. It is known as "the flower of the people," but it has been admired and cultivated by royalty.

This "Queen of the Autumn" blooms in many shades and shapes. The predominant color is yellow, but there are many white, pink, red, lilac and purple varieties. Some chrysanthemums have petals that curl, others are tube-like, while still others may look shaggy. The large flowers are called "mums," and the small flowers are called "pompons."

The pompons were so named because they looked like the pompons or tuft on the caps of French soldiers.

The flower was believed to have originated in China, but the Japanese have more or less adopted it as their national flower.

It has appeared on their postage stamps and on swords of the ruling Mikados. There is even an honor the Emperor may confer called, "The Grand Order of the Chrysanthemum."

A Dutch botanist, Dr. Jacob Breunius, grew this flower in Holland. About 100 years later, Monsieur Blancard introduced it in France. Later, it travelled to England. A German horticulturist wrote the first known treatise on its history in 1833.

In Japan the chrysanthemum is used in many areas of living. A parade may have in it large umbrellas made of chrysanthemums. Decorative materials or pottery may have a chrysanthemum design on them. Fans or scrolls may be decorated with them.

On the eve of certain fall festivals, the Japanese used to put cotton wool around chrysanthemums. The next morning they would apply the cotton, wet with dew, to their bodies and, this was believed to have powers to cure any ailments the person might have.

Each fall many exhibits are shown which feature this beautiful flower. These range from a single bloom to life size figures or effigies banked with flowers.

Jane Learns Her Lesson---

Tom Is Just a Slowpoke, but He's Careful---and That's What Counts

"Hurry up, slowpoke!" called Jane. "We will be late for school!" Jane stood at the front door. She frowned crossly at her brother.

Tom closed his pencil box. Tom had looked inside the box to be sure that all his pencils and his two erasers were there.

"I'm coming," Tom said. He kissed his mother goodby. Tom and Jane walked out of the house. They turned to wave at their mother.

"Why are you always so slow?" Jane asked, skipping on ahead.

Tom and Jane were twins but how different they were! Jane was always first to raise her hand when Teacher asked the class a question. She was always one of the first children to run outside to the playground at recess time. Jane was ready to go to school long before Tom was ready.

At the corner, Tom grabbed Jane's hand. He pulled his sister back as she stepped out into the street. A car whizzed past, honking its horn.

"You did not look before crossing the road," Tom said quietly.

"I would have seen that car," Jane answered angrily. "I could have hurried across the street before that car even reached this corner!"

Tom sighed, walking behind Jane as she skipped toward school. "Maybe I am too slow," Tom thought unhappily.

It was still early when Tom and Jane reached the school yard. They walked into the playground. Some other girls and boys were playing games and swinging in the swings.

"Let's play tag with the others!" Jane said, carelessly tossing her pencil box on the grass.

"Your shoelace is untied," Tom warned. "If you don't tie it, you might—"

It was already too late. Jane had been running across the lawn to join the other girls and boys. She tripped on the loose shoelace and fell down.

"Why are you always slow?" Jane asked, skipping on ahead.

"I wanted to tell you that you might fall down," Tom said as he hurried over to help Jane up. There was a grass stain on one of her knees. There was dirt and grass on her pretty dress, too.

Jane was not hurt. But Jane was very sad when she saw the grass stains on her knee and dress. Just then, the school bell rang. Jane hurried across the lawn and picked up her pencil box.

When all of the children were seated at their desks, teacher smiled at the class, saying, "Please take out your colored pencils. This morning, we are going to color pictures of animals!"

How pleased the boys and girls were! They laughed happily as they opened their pencil boxes and took out their colored pencils and crayons. All except poor Jane. When Jane opened her pencil box, she began to cry.

"I-I lost most of m-my pencils!" Jane cried when the teacher walked over to the desk where Jane sat.

Tom and two other boys walked outside and looked around in the grass where Jane had tossed the pencil box. They found one pencil and one eraser.

"Oh! I was coloring at home," Jane sniffled. "I remember, now. I must have forgotten to put the pencils back in the box when I finished coloring at home."

"You may use some of my colored pencils," Tom said.

Jane stopped crying. She used some of Tom's pencils while the class colored pictures of cows, horses, chickens, sheep, ducks, dogs, cats and pigs.

On the way home after school, Jane walked beside Tom. "I am going to be more careful after today," Jane told Tom.

They reached the corner. Jane looked in both directions before crossing the street. So did Tom, of course. Tom always did. Tom smiled at his sister. He was glad she had learned that carefulness counts!

Lower Bait

Fishing for frogs is sport and frog legs the reward. Use a very small-barbed hook, baited with a strip of red cloth or yarn. Also, small wriggly worms or dragonflies work well. Lower the bait in front of the frog and you'll get quick action. How to get close to him? Well, you've got to have something to worry about.

They Flag Their Fish Off the Coast of Maine

Some fishermen "flag" their fish instead of catching them.

Yes, this is true!

Commercial tuna fishermen off the coast of Maine use well-painted buoys with flagpoles on them to mark their catches. All buoys and flags on each boat are painted exactly alike.

Each fishing boat has its own colors, or combination of colors, and once the colors are established no other boat may use them.

The system works similar to that of cattle branding by western ranchers. Just as a rancher knows who owns the cattle by looking at the brand, the tuna fisherman can tell who owns the fish attached to each line.

A tuna line is made up of rope about 5/16-inch thick. It is carried in the boat in coils. There is usually a series of three coils, with the flag-bearing buoy attached to the last coil. Each coil may be two feet high, and each is attached to the other, so as to form a series.

When a tuna strikes, the fisherman immediately throws the buoy with the flag on it overboard, so that when the last coil has run out the buoy is already in the water. Then the tuna proceeds to run all over that section of the ocean, dragging the buoy along.

Tuna dive down in the ocean when hooked. They do not run around on the surface, but go tearing around many feet below, so that they rarely interfere with other lines, or fishing activities.

A tuna fisherman is not there for the sport of it. He has a family to support. The more fish he catches, the better he is going to be able to support them. He doesn't waste any more time on one fish than he has to.

Once he has hooked a tuna, he just lets the fish run until it has worn itself out. While the first fish is so engaged, the fisherman is busy trying to hook another.

If fishing is good, the fisherman may have several buoys out on the ocean with his colors on them, each with a tuna busily trying to get loose, but wearing itself out. There are times, however, when the fisherman will go many days without catching a single fish.

When a tuna is finally retrieved, it is not hauled aboard the boat. It is lashed securely to the side of the boat and thus towed to port, where it is hauled up on dock with a hand winch and dressed for market. Then, the fish is immediately taken by truck to market.

"Market" in this case refers to Portland or Boston, where tuna are sold to canning factories.

St. Pat's Day

On March 17 Irishmen everywhere think of their native land. It is the birthday of Saint Patrick, the Irish patron saint.

More than 1,500 years ago a 16-year-old lad was captured and spent some time as a slave in Ireland. He escaped and returned to his native Scotland, but so well did he like the Irish that he went back and converted them to Christianity. This man was Patrick.

There are many legends about his wonderful deeds, and one of them is that he drove all the snakes out of Ireland.

In America the day has been observed since 1737.

Each fishing boat has its own colors, or combination of colors, and once the colors are established no other boat may use them.

The system works similar to that of cattle branding by western ranchers. Just as a rancher knows who owns the cattle by looking at the brand, the tuna fisherman can tell who owns the fish attached to each line.

A tuna line is made up of rope about 5/16-inch thick. It is carried in the boat in coils. There is usually a series of three coils, with the flag-bearing buoy attached to the last coil. Each coil may be two feet high, and each is attached to the other, so as to form a series.

When a tuna strikes, the fisherman immediately throws the buoy with the flag on it overboard, so that when the last coil has run out the buoy is already in the water. Then the tuna proceeds to run all over that section of the ocean, dragging the buoy along.

Tuna dive down in the ocean when hooked. They do not run around on the surface, but go tearing around many feet below, so that they rarely interfere with other lines, or fishing activities.

A tuna fisherman is not there for the sport of it. He has a family to support. The more fish he catches, the better he is going to be able to support them. He doesn't waste any more time on one fish than he has to.

Once he has hooked a tuna, he just lets the fish run until it has worn itself out. While the first fish is so engaged, the fisherman is busy trying to hook another.

If fishing is good, the fisherman may have several buoys out on the ocean with his colors on them, each with a tuna busily trying to get loose, but wearing itself out. There are times, however, when the fisherman will go many days without catching a single fish.

When a tuna is finally retrieved, it is not hauled aboard the boat. It is lashed securely to the side of the boat and thus towed to port, where it is hauled up on dock with a hand winch and dressed for market. Then, the fish is immediately taken by truck to market.

"Market" in this case refers to Portland or Boston, where tuna are sold to canning factories.

—Edward B. Drollinger

St. Pat's Day

On March 17 Irishmen everywhere think of their native land. It is the birthday of Saint Patrick, the Irish patron saint.

More than 1,500 years ago a 16-year-old lad was captured and spent some time as a slave in Ireland. He escaped and returned to his native Scotland, but so well did he like the Irish that he went back and converted them to Christianity. This man was Patrick.

There are many legends about his wonderful deeds, and one of them is that he drove all the snakes out of Ireland.

In America the day has been observed since 1737.

Saugerties Woman In Good Condition

Mrs. Ella Ricketson, 46 of 79 Livingston Street, Saugerties was reported improving and in good condition today at Benedictine Hospital.

Mrs. Ricketson was one of five persons injured last Sunday afternoon in a highway mishap on Fish Creek Road in a two-car accident. Her husband, Richard Ricketson 49 was operating one car and John R. MacKay, 16 of Saugerties-Woodstock Road was driving the other vehicle. Kingston troopers reported.

Bares Peiping Report

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The official Chinese Nationalist central news agency today carried an unconfirmed report of a large-scale anti-Communist revolt early in March in eastern Kwangtung Province, South China.

It quoted as its source a Chinese who reportedly escaped to Hong Kong. The refugee, who was not named, was quoted as telling this story.

About 8,000 persons took part in the revolt, which broke out in Tihlupa County, 140 miles northeast of Hong Kong. It spread to three other counties — Wuhua (Ngwa), Chihling and Tihchang—and provoked bitter fighting with Communist militiamen.

Reds Roam Corridors

BERLIN (AP) —Soviet planes roamed the Berlin corridors during the night, flying the tense air lanes for the first time after dark, Western officials said today.

The Western Allies called the Soviet flights an annoyance.

Four Soviet military transports plied the northernmost of the three corridors, 175 miles long, from Berlin to the Iron Curtain border near Hamburg. Western planes flew normally. There were no incidents reported. The Soviets did their flying between 8 and 9 o'clock Friday night.

Clearing Skies Bode Well for Holiday Marchers

Cloudless skies promises a sunny St. Patrick's Day for much of the nation today and offered possible relief from a seige of unseasonably cold weather in several Northern states.

Temperatures skidded below freezing during the night in an area from the central Rockies to New England with readings in the 20s recorded as far south as Louisville and Kansas City.

Skies were clear over the Dakotas where temperatures dipped below zero Thursday night. Huron S.D., reported 2 above at midnight, Aberdeen registered 3 degrees.

Most of the western third of the nation had partly cloudy to cloudy skies. Widely scattered showers dampened the Western plateau and Pacific Coast states. Showers also hit extreme southern Florida.

Snow flurries were scattered in the eastern Great Lakes area, the upper Ohio Valley and the northern Appalachians.

Readings were in the mild 40s and 50s in a narrow band along the Pacific Coast and from the southern Plains eastward through the Gulf states to the southern Atlantic coast. Some readings in the 60s were reported in extreme southern Florida, Texas and California.

Seek Regulation Of Travel Agents In New Measure

Travel agencies which deal in the sale of airline reservations and tours, including the sale of non-scheduled airline charter flights, would be regulated under a bill which has been recommended to the Legislature by Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz.

"In recent months, my office has received numerous complaints concerning abuses by fly-by-night operators of airlines who have failed to live up to their claims and have left travelers stranded when they discontinued service," Attorney General Lefkowitz said.

"It is interesting to note that while the present law, which has been on the statute books for many years, regulates the sale of railroad and steamship tickets, there is a gap in the statute as far as airplane reservations are concerned," the Attorney General said.

The bill amends the General Business Law to require that the sellers of airplane tickets obtain a license to conduct business from the Department of State. A bond of $2,000 would be required of every such company operating a business in cities of the first class and a $1,000 bond for those located in other cities.

The Attorney General noted that the Bureau of Consumer Frauds and Protection of his office has received many complaints from persons who have been the victims of poorly planned and serviced airline flights by non-scheduled airlines operating charter flights.

OCS Building Construction Plan Defended by Principal

The Onteora Board of Education's proposed multi-million dollar bond issue for school construction through 1966-67 was vigorously defended by District Principal George R. Sullivan in a speech before the Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association, Thursday night at Deanie's.

Dr. Sullivan, in reply to a question, said the idea of a package deal to meet the acute classroom shortage through 1966 was more practical than doing it piecemeal.

"In the end the need is still there and it might even prove more expensive," he told the audience of 25 persons. He was introduced by Robert E. Owens, chairman of the WTTT's Education committee.

Preliminary estimates for the cost of the proposed program has been set at $3,063,000, said Dr. Sullivan, but the Onteora Board of Education has deferred final figures pending a check of different types of building materials and other factors.

A committee of Board of Education members last week inspected a new type steel building at Elmira and were reportedly impressed. The building can be erected more rapidly and at less cost than estimates now made by architects for the conventional type structure.

Charles A. Jennings of Woodstock, a building contractor specializing in school construction, also told the group he felt the buildings could be constructed much cheaper than the present estimates. Plans were made for a meeting of Jennings with Dr. Sullivan and Trustee Raymond C. Cruthers, chairman of the Board's Construction Committee.

The building program announced recently would include an addition of 11 rooms to the Woodstock building, new 1-4 room schools at Shandaken and in the West Hurley-Glenford area and accommodations for 1200 secondary students at Onteora by 1965-66.

19 Rooms Short Now

The current shortage of 19 classrooms will rise to a minimum of 32 rooms by 1966-67, if there is new construction, based on student population projections, Dr. Sullivan said. In addition the high school would need a minimum of 10 general class rooms, plus other specialized rooms by the same year.

As the result of a steady growth in the 2-3 year old range, the current school population of 2214 in K-12 will rise to at least 2890 by 1966. This projection is low, since it does not take into account new people moving into the community. There is a shortage of facilities for 430 pupils at the present and the number would be at least 1100 by 1966-67, if their is no new building.

In attempting to clarify the financial status of the district, Dr. Sullivan pointed out that Onteora is considered a "rich district" by State Education Department standards and thereby receives no building construction assistance and less state aid than poorer districts.

State aid is based on true value of the district which is now $100,445,828. Forty two per cent of this is represented by New York City's Ashokan reservoir. Onteora has more wealth behind each pupil ($48,998) than the state average of around $26,000. The current net expenditure per pupil of $724 and debt service of $91.40 compared with the state average of $84.45 are indications of the high quality of education in the Onteora district.

Under state law, a school district may borrow up to 10 per cent of its true value. In Onteora's case it would be $10,000,000. The district is now indebted for $3,063,151 and has paid off a total of approximately $1,250,000 since 1952.

To Extend Sessions

The district has been granted permission to start double sessions for kindergarten through sixth grade, Dr. Sullivan told the group. The defeat of several bond issues has resulted only in the use of sub-standard facilities for pupils.

If the total program is accepted, the bonds could be floated as needed and it would not be necessary to spend all the money at one time. There is no priority of construction for the program, but the Onteora Board is hopeful that the first facility would be ready for the 1963-64 school year.

Dr. Sullivan made an appeal for unity among the taxpayers. The Board of Education has taken the position that its program is realistic to meet the expanding needs of the school population. Economy in construction will be stressed. If the proposal is defeated, the school administration will make the best of present facilities, but he questioned seriously if this is the type and quality of education the district wanted.

A lively question and answer period followed Dr. Sullivan's formal presentation and the discussion continued after formal adjournment.

City of Trabzon: By Schimmerling

On the morning after a stormy night on the Black Sea, we landed at Trabzon. About 2,000 years ago this section of today's Turkey was Colchis where Princess Medea helped Jason with the Golden Fleece. A fleece, as you know, is a coat of wool.

In olden times, people of Colchis won copper from the mountain rivers by hanging a fleece into the water. While the light material was washed down, the heavier ore was caught in the fleece which then showed a metallic, golden-like glitter. By the way, the Golden Fleece was the highest order in the extensive medal collection of old imperial Austria.

Austria's greatest dramatist Grillparzer used the story of Medea in his play of the same name. Operatic composers such as Pacini, Benda, Cherubini, and more recently Charpentier and Milhaud, likewise were inspired by that legend.

Not far from Trabzon must have been the place where the unfortunate Prometheus had to suffer on the rock of the Caucausus for having brought fire to man. Who would not think in this connection of Beethoven's music to Vigano's "The Creature of Prometheus?" Perhaps less of Faure's opera? Another musical thought before landing in Trabzon went to Offenbach's La Princess de Trebizonde. Trebizonde is nothing else than Trabzon or Trapezunt which got its name from a nearby mountain which has a tabe-like shape of a "trapezos." This was mentioned by Xenophon about 400 B.C.

Was Once Roman

Once this section of today's Turkey was part of the Roman province of Cappadocia (Asia Minor). But before that time Babylonians, Persians and Macedonians under Alexander the Great roamed through Asia Minor claiming these territories as part of their empires. Asia Minor was the Southern invasion route of Mongolian and Turcic tribes. It seems that, eager to reach the West faster, invaders often bypassed Cappadocia ad Pontum. When the Turks conquered Byzantium in 1204, the last official stronghold of Christianity on the Balkan peninsula, history identified this event with the Finis Latinorum, the end of the East-Roman, that is the Bzyantine Empire.

Negligence in methods of teaching history, however, disregards the most interesting fact that refugees from Byzantium established so-called "Imperium in Exile" in Trabzon, limited to a narrow strip around the city that outlasted the Byzantine Empire (Imperium Latinum) by exactly seven years. This is reported by J. Ph. Fallmerayer, a shepherd boy from the Tyrol who became one of the great historians of the 19th century.

After Baghdad was destroyed in 1258, Trabzon became a commercial center. Representatives of the rich Fugger family in Augusburg, Germany, of the Dodges of Venice and the Republic of Genoa met here with merchants from the Orient who came from Peking and India to unload their merchandise from caravans in order to exchange them for western goods. When the Turks closed the Bosporus, Trabzon became a ghost city almost unknown during the 18th century. But when the straits were opened in 1828, Trabzon again became an important commercial center.

Such as the above and many more thoughts flashed through my mind before stepping on Turkish soil. Not Istanbul, not Izmir or Ankara but a remote corner of Turkey where one finds more genuine Turkish life than in all the above mentioned large cities together, where tourists are "ordered" to go by their travel agents or arrangers of guided tours . . .

H. A. SCHIMMERLING.

Seeking professional assistance in preparing your 1961 federal income tax return? It's best to consult only qualified and competent firms or individuals, James A. O'Hara, local district director said today.

Members of the accounting and legal professions usually provide excellent assistance, the district director noted.

There are four points to keep in mind in selecting a tax advisor. For example, do not patronize a tax advisor who:

1. Does not have a permanent place of business or address. You might have to call him in case IRS questions the return.
2. Wants the refund check sent to his address.
3. Claims that he can obtain a large refund for you or ask for a percentage of your refund check as a fee.
4. Suggests that you claim dependents or deductions to which you are not entitled.

Clearing Skies Bode Well for Holiday Marchers

Cloudless skies promises a sunny St. Patrick's Day for much of the nation today and offered possible relief from a seige of unseasonably cold weather in several Northern states.

Temperatures skidded below freezing during the night in an area from the central Rockies to New England with readings in the 20s recorded as far south as Louisville and Kansas City.

Skies were clear over the Dakotas where temperatures dipped below zero Thursday night. Huron S.D., reported 2 above at midnight, Aberdeen registered 3 degrees.

Most of the western third of the nation had partly cloudy to cloudy skies. Widely scattered showers dampened the Western plateau and Pacific Coast states. Showers also hit extreme southern Florida.

Snow flurries were scattered in the eastern Great Lakes area, the upper Ohio Valley and the northern Appalachians.

Readings were in the mild 40s and 50s in a narrow band along the Pacific Coast and from the southern Plains eastward through the Gulf states to the southern Atlantic coast. Some readings in the 60s were reported in extreme southern Florida, Texas and California.

Seek Regulation Of Travel Agents In New Measure

Travel agencies which deal in the sale of airline reservations and tours, including the sale of non-scheduled airline charter flights, would be regulated under a bill which has been recommended to the Legislature by Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz.

"In recent months, my office has received numerous complaints concerning abuses by fly-by-night operators of airlines who have failed to live up to their claims and have left travelers stranded when they discontinued service," Attorney General Lefkowitz said.

"It is interesting to note that while the present law, which has been on the statute books for many years, regulates the sale of railroad and steamship tickets, there is a gap in the statute as far as airplane reservations are concerned," the Attorney General said.

The bill amends the General Business Law to require that the sellers of airplane tickets obtain a license to conduct business from the Department of State. A bond of $2,000 would be required of every such company operating a business in cities of the first class and a $1,000 bond for those located in other cities.

The Attorney General noted that the Bureau of Consumer Frauds and Protection of his office has received many complaints from persons who have been the victims of poorly planned and serviced airline flights by non-scheduled airlines operating charter flights.

OCS Building Construction Plan Defended by Principal

The Onteora Board of Education's proposed multi-million dollar bond issue for school construction through 1966-67 was vigorously defended by District Principal George R. Sullivan in a speech before the Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association, Thursday night at Deanie's.

Dr. Sullivan, in reply to a question, said the idea of a package deal to meet the acute classroom shortage through 1966 was more practical than doing it piecemeal.

"In the end the need is still there and it might even prove more expensive," he told the audience of 25 persons. He was introduced by Robert E. Owens, chairman of the WTTT's Education committee.

Preliminary estimates for the cost of the proposed program has been set at $3,063,000, said Dr. Sullivan, but the Onteora Board of Education has deferred final figures pending a check of different types of building materials and other factors.

A committee of Board of Education members last week inspected a new type steel building at Elmira and were reportedly impressed. The building can be erected more rapidly and at less cost than estimates now made by architects for the conventional type structure.

Charles A. Jennings of Woodstock, a building contractor specializing in school construction, also told the group he felt the buildings could be constructed much cheaper than the present estimates. Plans were made for a meeting of Jennings with Dr. Sullivan and Trustee Raymond C. Cruthers, chairman of the Board's Construction Committee.

The building program announced recently would include an addition of 11 rooms to the Woodstock building, new 1-4 room schools at Shandaken and in the West Hurley-Glenford area and accommodations for 1200 secondary students at Onteora by 1965-66.

19 Rooms Short Now

The current shortage of 19 classrooms will rise to a minimum of 32 rooms by 1966-67, if there is new construction, based on student population projections, Dr. Sullivan said. In addition the high school would need a minimum of 10 general class rooms, plus other specialized rooms by the same year.

As the result of a steady growth in the 2-3 year old range, the current school population of 2214 in K-12 will rise to at least 2890 by 1966. This projection is low, since it does not take into account new people moving into the community. There is a shortage of facilities for 430 pupils at the present and the number would be at least 1100 by 1966-67, if their is no new building.

In attempting to clarify the financial status of the district, Dr. Sullivan pointed out that Onteora is considered a "rich district" by State Education Department standards and thereby receives no building construction assistance and less state aid than poorer districts.

State aid is based on true value of the district which is now $100,445,828. Forty two per cent of this is represented by New York City's Ashokan reservoir. Onteora has more wealth behind each pupil ($48,998) than the state average of around $26,000. The current net expenditure per pupil of $724 and debt service of $91.40 compared with the state average of $84.45 are indications of the high quality of education in the Onteora district.

Under state law, a school district may borrow up to 10 per cent of its true value. In Onteora's case it would be $10,000,000. The district is now indebted for $3,063,151 and has paid off a total of approximately $1,250,000 since 1952.

To Extend Sessions

The district has been granted permission to start double sessions for kindergarten through sixth grade, Dr. Sullivan told the group. The defeat of several bond issues has resulted only in the use of sub-standard facilities for pupils.

If the total program is accepted, the bonds could be floated as needed and it would not be necessary to spend all the money at one time. There is no priority of construction for the program, but the Onteora Board is hopeful that the first facility would be ready for the 1963-64 school year.

Dr. Sullivan made an appeal for unity among the taxpayers. The Board of Education has taken the position that its program is realistic to meet the expanding needs of the school population. Economy in construction will be stressed. If the proposal is defeated, the school administration will make the best of present facilities, but he questioned seriously if this is the type and quality of education the district wanted.

A lively question and answer period followed Dr. Sullivan's formal presentation and the discussion continued after formal adjournment.

Plans Under Way For Blood Bank

City of Trabzon: By Schimmerling

On the morning after a stormy night on the Black Sea, we landed at Trabzon. About 2,000 years ago this section of today's Turkey was Colchis where Princess Medea helped Jason with the Golden Fleece. A fleece, as you know, is a coat of wool.

In olden times, people of Colchis won copper from the mountain rivers by hanging a fleece into the water. While the light material was washed down, the heavier ore was caught in the fleece which then showed a metallic, golden-like glitter. By the way, the Golden Fleece was the highest order in the extensive medal collection of old imperial Austria.

Austria's greatest dramatist Grillparzer used the story of Medea in his play of the same name. Operatic composers such as Pacini, Benda, Cherubini, and more recently Charpentier and Milhaud, likewise were inspired by that legend.

Not far from Trabzon must have been the place where the unfortunate Premetheus had to suffer on the rock of the Caucausus for having brought fire to man. Who would not think in this connection of Beethoven's music to Vigano's "The Creature of Prometheus?" Perhaps less of Faure's opera? Another musical thought before landing in Trabzon went to Offenbach's La Princess de Trebizonde. Trebizonde is nothing else than Trabzon or Trapezunt which got its name from a nearby mountain which has a tabe-like shape of a "trapezos." This was mentioned by Xenophon about 400 B.C.

Was Once Roman

Once this section of today's Turkey was part of the Roman province of Cappadocia (Asia Minor). But before that time Babylonians, Persians and Macedonians under Alexander the Great roamed through Asia Minor claiming these territories as part of their empires. Asia Minor was the Southern invasion route of Mongolian and Turcic tribes. It seems that, eager to reach the West faster, invaders often bypassed Cappadocia ad Pontum. When the Turks conquered Byzantium in 1204, the last official stronghold of Christianity on the Balkan peninsula, history identified this event with the Finis Latinorum, the end of the East-Roman, that is the Bzyantine Empire.

Negligence in methods of teaching history, however, disregards the most interesting fact that refugees from Byzantium established so-called "Imperium in Exile" in Trabzon, limited to a narrow strip around the city that outlasted the Byzantine Empire (Imperium Latinum) by exactly seven years. This is reported by J. Ph. Fallmerayer, a shepherd boy from the Tyrol who became one of the great historians of the 19th century.

After Baghdad was destroyed in 1258, Trabzon became a commercial center. Representatives of the rich Fugger family in Augusburg, Germany, of the Dodges of Venice and the Republic of Genoa met here with merchants from the Orient who came from Peking and India to unload their merchandise from caravans in order to exchange them for western goods. When the Turks closed the Bosporus, Trabzon became a ghost city almost unknown during the 18th century. But when the straits were opened in 1828, Trabzon again became an important commercial center.

Such as the above and many more thoughts flashed through my mind before stepping on Turkish soil. Not Istanbul, not Izmir or Ankara but a remote corner of Turkey where one finds more genuine Turkish life than in all the above mentioned large cities together, where tourists are "ordered" to go by their travel agents or arrangers of guided tours . . .

H. A. SCHIMMERLING.
